Railroad's plan strikes sparks Residents protest intent to close crossing

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

The apparent intent of the Norfolk and Western Railroad (N&W) to close permanently one of its street crossings to auto traffic in Romulus is being met with a wall of opposition from nearby homeowners.

A petition, signed by 59 residents of the Columbian Subdivision in the west-central part of the city, was presented to the City Council in an effort to stop the railroad from making a dead-end out of a crossing on Romaine Road between Perry Street and Goddard Road.

N&W wants to close the crossing for safety reasons and financial savings to the city, according to David Paul, director of the Department of Public Works (DPW). He said an N&W official also claimed the closing would cause no major inconveniences to local citizens.

'The citizens contended the closing would hamper fire and emergency vehicle service to the subdivision.'

The residents opposing the closing live in the area bounded by Ozga Road on the west, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks on the east, the N&W tracks on the south and I-94 on the north. The residential area has approximately 60 homes.

Known on city charts as the Columbian Subdivision, the neighborhood has three entrance-exit routes including the one on Romaine. Its closing would leave two access routes.

The citizens' petition, filed at a public meeting last week before the City Council, contended the closing would hamper fire and emergency vehicle service to the subdivision.

The petition also stated that safety at the crossing did not seem to be a problem.

The residents added that slow-moving or parked trains often block the Ozga and Shook roads entrances to the subdivision simultaneously, presenting a potential danger to the area if Romaine is closed.

Wilbur W. Koester, 62, of 11026 Meredith, who collected 40 of the 59 signatures from what he described as "three-quarters of the residents," argued that the railroad's contention of the safety factor is ill-founded.

"I've lived in this location for 40 years and the crossing always has been here," he said. "And there's only been one fatal accident there."

The railroad also cited the $10 per month charge to the city for maintenance of the crossing as a reason for closing it. The closing would save the city that charge each month, it said.

The N&W tracks cross city streets five times.

Paul said he received a letter from the Michigan State Highway Department last Nov. 5, informing the city of the proposed closing of the N&W crossing for four specific reasons: the crossing is at a 45 degree angle; eastbound Goddard traffic is subjected to "restrictive sight distance" down the track, there is accessibility to the residential area via Shook Road or the new Ozga Road overpass over I-94; and the average daily traffic count on Romaine was low.

However, traffic counts made there on four consecutive days from Dec. 12-15 showed an average of 697 vehicles using the crossing, a figure Koester and others say is not "low."

"I would say the traffic count emphasizes the need to keep the crossing open," he added.

The City Council took no action on the matter at the public meeting, but Paul Monday said he is drafting a letter to N&W, informing it of the city's opposition to closing the crossing.

The railroad likely will file a petition with the Michigan Public Service Commission for a hearing on the issue. Final determination on the closing then would be made by the commission, said City Attorney Stephen Cooper.

N&W officials could not be reached for comment at their St. Louis, Mo. offices.

Officials hope for public to show at grant hearing

A bigger public turnout than was present at the first session of The Romulus community development public hearing is hoped for when round two commences tonight.

About 100 citizens attended the hearing at Harrison Elementary School last week for the purpose of suggesting ideas for the use of $667,000 in federal grant money likely to come to Romulus within the next five years.

The money is being allocated under the Community Development Block Grant program, and administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The primary objective of the program is "the development of viable urban communities, including decent housing and a suitable living environment and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income," according to HUD guidelines.

Specifically, the program strives to eliminate slums and blight, obtain more housing and improve community services.

By law, the city must hold at least two public hearings and offer citizens an active role in the utilization of the grant money.

Romulus is holding four hearings, the second and third coming tonight and the fourth Tuesday.

Tonight's hearing begins at 7:30 at Gordonier Elementary School, 29814 Smith Road. Tomorrow's meeting also begins at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall, 11111 Wayne Road. Tuesday's final hearing at 7:30 p.m. will be at the Beverly Elementary School, 35408 Beverly Road.

City officials primarily are interested in channeling the grant money toward restoring residential areas, containing abandoned houses, particularly the Meadows Subdivision near Eureka and Middlebelt roads.

The hearings include a 30-45 minute explanation of the grant by city officials, followed by a question-and-answer session and concluding with the open hearing on the city's grant application.

Citizens are urged to suggest ideas for use of some or all of the grant money, officials said.

The city has mailed leaflets to residents informing them of the public hearings and explaining the substance of the grant.

Some of the citizen suggestions made last week for use of money were for recreational facilities and improving the city's police protection.

The final decision on grant spending will be made by the city.

Wayne mayor responds to 'dinner bucket' claim

By MAUREEN RADEMACHER
Of The Roman Staff

Wayne is not a "dinner-bucket community," and Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton wants to make that perfectly clear to the officials of neighboring communities who seem to be ill informed about the city's organization.

Norton was reacting to a recent statement by Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt who was irked because Romulus did not have a recreation center like Wayne's, adding that Romulus could certainly afford one if cities, such as Inkster, Wayne and Taylor, could.

"A lot of people feel we need it badly," he said. "But there's no money for it. If Inkster, Wayne and Taylor — what I call dinner-bucket communities — can afford one, we can, too."

Norton reacted, blaming Troutt for being misinformed.

Norton reacted to the comment, blaming Troutt for being misinformed about the City of Wayne, which has 70 per cent of its tax base in industrial and commercial businesses.

"I really don't understand what he means by 'dinner-bucket community,'" Norton said. "It must be some Southern colloquialism."

"Apparently, he knows even less about the City of Romulus than about Wayne. All three communities he mentioned significantly are more organized than Romulus."

Troutt had singled out those three cities because of their small tax base, meaning fewer tax dollars from industry.

Norton countered that the tax base from industry and commercial businesses in Wayne almost is equal to that of Dearborn, the home of the elaborate Ford Motor Co. plants and offices.

Large industries within Wayne include the Michigan Truck Plant, Wayne Assembly Plant and Unistrut Corp. Also scheduled to move into Wayne this year is Perkins Engines Inc., a Massey-Ferguson Inc. division that manufactures diesel engines.

"We've had unbelievable luck in industrial development in the last few years," Norton said. "I'm most pleased with the way Wayne is going recreationally and industrially."

The Wayne Community Center and ice arena, alluded to by Troutt, opened in Wayne in October 1974.

Complaint night lacks grippers

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Either everything is just fine in Romulus or citizens for a number of reasons are having trouble airing their gripes before City Council.

Council President and Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McNally is leaning toward the second explanation as the reason why so few citizens attend the council's monthly Citizens Complaint Nights, a chance for taxpayers to direct their gripes to the entire body.

"We just don't average very big turnouts," she said. "You can interpret it two ways: either everything is just great in the city or it's just too much trouble to come to the meetings. Another reason may be that the issues are too pressing."

Mrs. McNally also listed transportation as a possible factor keeping citizens at home and away from the monthly council sessions reserved for them.

Because of that factor, she added that the council in February probably will begin holding the meetings in various elementary schools around the city, possibly beginning at Beverly School and advancing alphabetically through the list.

"If they don't come here (City Hall), I feel we have an obligation to go to them," she said. "I think if the citizens know we're coming to their area, the interest in attending the meetings might be increased."

"As it is, sometimes we have only four or five people at one of these meetings. The city can't operate in a vacuum not knowing what the people want."

Mrs. McNally hopes by moving the Citizens Complaint Nights around to different locations each month, "we will reach every segment of the community within the year."

She added that an announcement will be made regarding the definite location of the first meeting under the new format next month.

UMYF donates mini-bus

The First United Methodist Church of Belleville soon will have a new 15-passenger mini-bus for use by parish groups thanks to the church's United Methodist Youth Fellowship (UMYF). As the sponsoring youth organization, UMYF recently said a $5,000 goal set by its senior high school student members had been reached. Funds were contributed by individuals and groups and included proceeds from a bike-a-thon, handicap fund, adult fellowship and church bazaar.

Student missed on list

Among the students listed on Belleville High School's honor roll for the second marking period was Cindy Allmon, a student in the 11th grade. Her name inadvertently was omitted in last week's issue when the honor roll was published.

150 active members and 10 guests including Fr. Raymond Skoney, pastor of St. Anthony Catholic Church in Belleville and Fr. Mitchell Bednarski of St. Ursula Catholic Church in Ypsilanti. The annual meeting opened when President Sylvester Blaszk, who was reelected, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag followed by reading of the minutes, financial report and general business matters.

During the meeting Mary Ann Krause, student at Alliance College, made a plea for a donation to the college's year book. The membership of the lodge approved a full page advertisement in the yearbook.

Attorney Ernest Ryback then was appointed chairman of the election committee. He selected as his assistants: Edward Rush, Stan Price, Al Januszyk, Alphonse Szuma, Adam Janowski, John Sidor and Edward Zaborowski. The officers elected for 1975 were: Blaszk, president; Joseph Wojtowicz, vice-president; Eleonore Rejman, lady vice-president; Richard Korgal, recording secretary; Mary Wisniewski, financial secretary; Frank Wisniewski, treasurer. Trustees elected were Richard Krajewski, 3-year term; Joseph Wojtowicz, 2-year term; Frances Blaszk, 1-year term. William Rustelak was named sergeant-at-arms. Elected to the board of directors were Walter Zaleski, Chester Bies, Joseph Price, Stan Wisniewski, Szuma, Karl Babik and Steve Rejman. Fr. Bednarski conducted the installation of the officers. A dinner prepared by the kitchen crew of Mrs. Rejman, Mrs. Wisniewski, Frances Blaszk and Phyllis Bies was served. Community singing followed to end a "perfect day," according to Lodge Treasurer Wisniewski.

TAX TIME AGAIN—When there's a question regarding payment of city taxes, what better person to sit down with than the city treasurer himself? So that is what Mr. and Mrs.

Airport suit decision at least nine days off

It will be at least another nine days before a decision is rendered in the City of Romulus' bid to stop construction of a 10,000-foot runway at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Because of the number of witnesses being called by Romulus and attorneys for Wayne County and the length of their testimony, the 6-day-old hearing before U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia G. Kennedy was suspended indefinitely Monday evening.

The suspension was brought about when the attorney for the Romulus plaintiffs, Jerrold A. Fadum, informed the court he had to return to his offices in California to begin another court case and would not be able to remain in Detroit to continue the case.

Judge Kennedy then suggested the hearing resume Jan. 24, to which Fadum agreed, if his schedule permitted.

According to the court clerk, the hearing is only about one day from competition.

The City of Romulus, Romulus Community Schools and a homeowners group are seeking at least a temporary injunction against the runway.

Harris urges car purchase

Governmental units from the national level down to the local level should not "put off" purchases of automobiles, but should act now to buy new cars and lessen the inventories at U.S. dealerships, contends 26th District Wayne County Commissioner Edgar L. Harris.

In a resolution to be presented to the Board of Commissioners tomorrow, Harris urges all governmental units to make car purchases now to lessen the inventories and bring about a re-hiring of laid-off auto workers.

He said more than 250,000 autos are registered to governmental units, not including the military.

"The elimination of the excessive inventories at dealerships would stimulate employment and production throughout a major portion of the national economy," added the Taylor Democrat. Harris' district includes Romulus, Rockwood, Flat Rock, Huron Township and a portion of Taylor.

In the resolution Harris noted that as of Jan. 1 the new car inventory in the U.S. totaled 1,654,000 vehicles, or a 96-day supply. He said some units of government in the near future will be replacing their official cars and urged those units to replace them now.

He added that buying now "it would save taxpayers' money, because many dealers are offering price incentives to stimulate sales."

Harris said the large car inventories and subsequent layoffs of auto workers has caused "massive unemployment nationally with 12.4 per cent unemployment in the tri-county Metropolitan Detroit area and an estimated 22 to 25 per cent unemployment in the inner city."

Officials promote snowmobile trails

If snowmobilers across Western Wayne County only knew what was awaiting them in Romulus, the city's new 8-mile long snowmobiling trail at Beverly and Henry/Ruff roads would be overflowing with enthusiasts.

That is the reasoning of city officials who are embarking on a promotional effort to make the trail known to the entire area.

The winding trail, covering 110 acres in the Beverly-Ruff Park, recently opened to the public and is awaiting another big snow to form a solid base.

The city's Recreation Department plans to send flyers home with school children in Romulus to inform their parents of the opening of the trail. Other arewide promotional efforts also are being considered.

The main "selling point" for the trail is that it is the only municipally-owned trail in the county, said Recreation Department Director Marie DeBuysse.

"But we haven't had too many people because they don't know about it," she added.

The trail is open weekdays from 3:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. and weekends from noon to 8 p.m. The daily fee is $2 for city residents and $4 for non-residents. Persons must have their own snowmobiles.

A portable building is on the site containing heated restrooms and a warmup shelter. Refreshments also are for sale.

City Council gets discussion room

The two rooms in City Hall originally set aside as an office for the Romulus City Council finally are realizing their intended purpose.

Gone from one of them are the city's billing machine and rows of file cabinets, replaced by the council secretary's desk which for so long rested in the room supposedly reserved for council members to meet informally with constituents and each other.

What the reshuffling of furniture and equipment means is that a councilman at last has someplace to go to talk in privacy.

The number of wild deer roaming the wooded southern fringes of Detroit Metropolitan Airport — a figure ranging from 10 to 50 depending on who you talk to — is now one less.

Louis J. Sugo, WCRC public relations director, said the animal was taken by an official of the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Identification signs help city image

An expenditure of $1,500 for city identification signs may be criticized by some members of the Romulus community; but we say it's $1,500 well spent.

And anyone seeing the new City of Romulus street identification signs must agree.

The City of Romulus always has had an identification problem, but the colorful, prominent signs should go a long way in helping to carry the image of the community.

The signs, which include the city seal, a factory, airplane, expressway, and figures of children, show what the City of Romulus is. It is a growing community, rich with industry, popular because of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, and progressive with its school district. It is not a city residents fear living in.

The signs seem to dispel the old image the city has carried—the image of being the dumping ground for bodies in Detroit murder cases.

The new City of Romulus identification signs should make local residents take note and take pride in their community, which is moving and bettering itself.

And the new City of Romulus identification signs will allow residents from other communities to know that they are in our community. That they should not fear being in the City of Romulus, for our city is a progressive one. It is one in which its people take pride and it is a community that is gaining a positive identification and image.

The $1,500 has gained the City of Romulus 50 signs—money well spent for the community's identity.

Lions give unselfishly

One often hears about service clubs in the community donating time and money for different causes. But very rarely does one hear about members of a club donating a part of themselves to aid others.

And that's exactly what members of the Belleville Area Lions Club have done. Every member of the local club has pledged to donate his eyes to the Michigan Eye Bank program, in the event something should happen to him.

The Belleville Area Lions Club is the first club in the state to achieve 100 percent pledges on eye donations. In fact more than 90 percent of the wives and families of the local Lions Club also have pledged to donate their eyes.

We often find reasons to laud individuals and clubs in the community for giving unselfishly of themselves, but never have we had the pleasure of saying thank you to members of an organization for such a pledge.

The Lions Club received a plaque for the eye pledge.

And they also receive our recognition and thanks for their unselfish and unusual pledge. We would like to say congratulations to the Belleville Area Lions Club, its members indeed have been unselfish and have set a very good example for others in the community and across the state and nation.

For Americans

1974: A depressing year

The year that just ended was not the worst in our history despite inflation, recession, crime and corruption in high places. Why then was it such a depressing year?

The answer, I think, is that it was a year of facing facts. Rather like a family facing up to illness or a mounting debt or incapacity to maintain its living standard, Americans during 1974 became aware that reality was not what they had long imagined.

It was the first year in our history when, according to one poll, a majority of Americans expected to be worse off in the future than in the past.

It was a year when we had to admit that a tiny group of underdeveloped states could make life very uncomfortable—even dangerous—and that there was nothing in the world we could do about it.

It was a year when we understood for the first time that there were limits to what our generosity could accomplish.

Famine in Africa and in Bangladesh were catastrophes which in other years Americans would surmount by virtue of their enormous reserves and a charitable spirit. But this was the year when our secretary of state was first to admit that some people simply would have to starve.

This also was the year in which our productivity declined. At some point (Was it in the '50s?) the number of Americans who had experienced the Great Depression was surpassed by the number of those who had only heard of it. Was it at that point that we began to assume that the security of a job was a natural right, due to each person by virtue of birth or citizenship and not necessarily related to whether or not he gave it all he had?

At any rate, 1974 was the year when this newer generation began to find out that the assumption was not true.

It was the year, as David Brinkley has said, when we first asked ourselves whether a house was an economical thing to own. It also was the year when we realized that owning a car was a luxury and owning two or three cars was a waste.

We were not what we thought we were.

We were not invincible, not destined to a higher and higher standard of living, not impervious to the troubles of the rest of the world, not even a sure bet to conquer our own troubles at home.

This is what we learned in 1974 and we also learned that there was no charismatic leader with a handsome smile and ready answers to all our questions waiting to mount the podium and tell us what to do. Instead, we found in Gerald Ford an earnest and honest plodder, as surprised as we to note the ugly facts and with no more idea than the rest of us as to what to do about them.

It was a depressing year, the one just ended.

But the act of facing reality is often depressing and just as often is endowed in hindsight with the aura of decisiveness and bootstrap-pulling. Maybe 1974 will be so recorded and, like the man who looks at himself in the mirror and determines to change course, we will some day look back upon this year and say: "That was the time when we took stock, recognized our limitations and our strengths and decided to live within our income."

"It was unpleasant at the time but, looking back now, it was a year of which we can be proud."

Perspective from Africa

World judges Africa with double standard

By TOM OCHILTREE

Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau Chief

PRETORIA, Republic of South Africa—South Africans of differing political views bitterly resent the double standard by which they feel the world judges their country.

In various international forums—from the United Nations (UN) to multinational sports bodies—Communists, third-world radicals and their self-professed liberal followers strive to humiliate and isolate South Africa. This effort is particularly marked among many social action oriented western church groups.

Picking on the South Africans has come to be a ritual at many international gatherings. It makes little difference whether the discussion relates to world financial problems or tennis, some of those present believe they can make points with so-called "world progressive thought" by taking a swipe at South Africa's racial policies.

In comfortable drawing rooms in Washington, London and Paris, the radical chic find that denouncing South Africa gives them almost as much cause for self-congratulation as they received a few years ago by denigrating the United States role in Vietnam.

This autumn only a triple veto by the United States, Britain and France kept South Africa from being expelled from the United Nations.

And even while they were carrying out their rescue effort, the three western powers carefully stressed their distaste for apartheid, the republic's controversial policy of separation of and separate development for its racial groupings.

While South Africa still belongs to the world body, a coalition of black African, Arab and Communist countries succeeded in preventing the South African delegation from taking any part in the 1974 session of the UN General Assembly.

Ironically, South Africa in this case was judged and found wanting by countries copy which share the African continent with her are controlled by civilian strong men or military dictators. Some of them have violated basic human rights even to the extent of practicing genocide on elements of their own population.

It is not hard to see, therefore, why white South Africans believe they are the victims of a double standard.

The evidence also indicates that outside denunciations are counterproductive so far as the black, colored (mixed blood) and Indian populations in South Africa are concerned.

The resentment such criticism fans inside South Africa tends to strengthen the hand of the extremely conservative elements in Prime Minister John Vorster's National government.

Afrikaners speaking whites have a word — verkrampste — for the unbending conservatives who insist there must be no modification in the racial or international policies of Vorster's cabinet. Conversely, white South Africans prepared to welcome some changes are referred to as members of the "verligte" group.

As reflected in their newspapers, English speaking whites tend to give the impression that as a group they are less hide bound on racial matters than the Afrikaners. On the individual level this is far from a hard and fast distinction, however.

Actually, the division between racial conservatives and moderates in both the white communities now has become largely generational, with the young tending to be more in favor of reform than their elders.

Vorster has given signs that he is prepared to rethink South Africa's racial policies although he has made it clear that he wants the government to remain under white control.

However, there are many things that could be done to remove personal apartheid restrictions—The sort of things lumped together as Jim Crow rules in the American South of 15 or 20 years ago.

Asking the world for a six months grace period, Vorster has said: "If South Africa is given that chance, they (neighboring black African states) will be surprised at where the country will stand in six to 12 months."

Obviously, Vorster will have to move carefully if he hopes to carry a majority of his party along with him. Vorster's quiet efforts to improve South Africa's relations with black countries to the North, beginning with Zambia, produced a backlash from former Transport Minister Ben Schoeman.

To the delight of the "verkrampste," Schoeman vigorously opposed any detente between South Africa and Zambia. Questioning the sincerity of Zambian President Kenneth Daunda, Schoeman said:

"We must not live under illusions. The black states have only one objective—a black majority government in South Africa. At any cost, the white man must retain political control of white South Africa."

Where does the United States stand in relation to South Africa's problems? Many South Africans feel Washington unnecessarily has been cool toward their country and much too impatient for a solution to the very complicated race problem.

According to the State Department, the present United States policy is one of "keeping open communication" with the South African government on the theory that we can encourage moderate elements in the republic and perhaps be able to foster racial progress.

The importance of South Africa to western defense, as discussed in the first article in this series, constitutes one good reason for the United States to strengthen its ties with South Africa. Another equally strong reason has to do with financial considerations.

In an increasingly radical world, no foreign company ever has been nationalized in South Africa. Its major political parties are committed to the principles of free enterprise.

Average returns on investment range from 15 to 17 percent, a major reason why South Africa attracts 50 percent of the total foreign investments on the continent of Africa.

South Africa, in fact, is the economic spark plug for the whole continent as revealed by these statistics. While the republic constitutes only about four percent of the total land area of the continent and six percent of its population, it provides 27 percent of the continent's total income, 40 percent of its industrial production, 20 percent of its exports, and 45 percent of its mineral output.

Fifty percent of the continent's telephones and motor vehicles are located in South Africa.

If the differences between South Africa and black Africa were patched up, many experts are convinced South Africa could lead the entire continent to a new high level of prosperity.

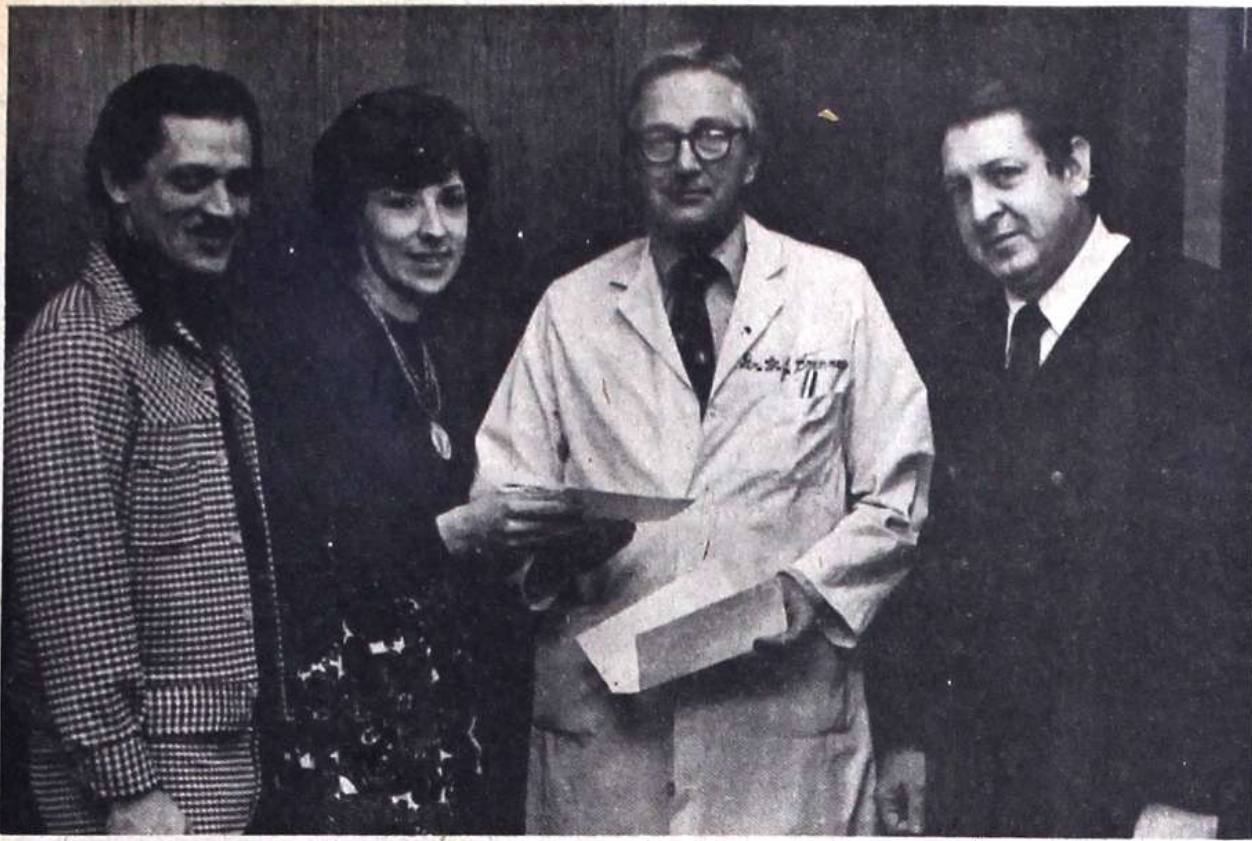

South Africans tell their American friends: "That forecast is something to think about."

Officer foils bank robbery

By RIC BOHY
Of The Enterprise
Roman Staff

A bank robbery in Western Wayne County last week was foiled by an off-duty police officer whose quick action led to the recovery of all money taken in the incident.

Det. Tom Sheedy of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department said a black male, described as being between 6 feet and 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighing approximately 170 pounds, entered the Bank of the Commonwealth branch at Belleville Road and I-94 at 1:50 p.m. last Wednesday.

The man was armed and pointed a gun at one of the tellers, demanding that money be placed in a plastic shopping bag he carried. The teller obeyed, and the man repeated his demand at another teller's cage, police reported.

The bandit left the building and was followed by an off-duty Detroit police officer who was in the bank at the time of the robbery, Sheedy added.

The officer reportedly ordered the suspect to halt. When the bandit turned on the officer, the officer fired his gun. It is believed his shot may have struck the suspect.

Sheedy said witnesses reported that the man fell to the ground, dropping his shopping bag. A black woman, driving a brown-on-brown 1971 Pontiac, then drove up to the fallen bandit, told him to get in the car and drove off at a high rate of speed, west on I-94.

A Sheriff's Department car, alerted to the robbery and waiting at I-94 and Merriman, gave chase but lost the suspect car somewhere near Schaefer Road and I-94, Sheedy added.

The detective said a bank audit later showed that all of the money taken in the incident was recovered when the bandit dropped his shopping bag.

Both the Sheriff's Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are working on the case.

Police seek leads in theft of clocks

The Belleville Police Department is investigating the breakin and theft of approximately $3,300 worth of clocks and crystal at Argyle Gift Galleries, 537 E. Huron River Drive, and have issued an appeal to area residents to be on the alert.

According to Leslie Richardson, owner of the galleries, most of the clocks taken in the recent breakin were replicas of early American models and old school clocks.

Many of the clocks taken were made in New England and bear the names of Ansonia or Cornwall. Three Linden-brand glassdomed perpetual clocks also were taken, he reported.

The crystal pieces taken included a blue antique decanter and eight glasses, six cut-glass bases varying in size from six to 12 inches and a cut-glass crystal lazy-susan.

Persons who may know the whereabouts or who have been approached to buy what might be the stolen crystal or clocks should contact the Belleville Police Department at 699-2033.

Young wood workers use metric measures

A wood working project stressing measuring in centimeters was a recent study unit for a group of first graders attending Elwell Road Elementary School in Belleville.

Teacher Dorthea Burger's

students ended the project by making Christmas calendars for their parents.

The students measured 15 centimeters of balsa wood and cut it in a mitre box. They then drilled a hole at the top with a hand drill, sanded the wood and stapled a calendar to the wood.

The other students measured and cut 12 centimeter pieces of ribbon and applied the ribbon to the calendar.

Kiwanis program to aim at 'special' children

Working with children with learning disabilities will be combined with service to senior citizens as the twin emphasis of this year's Kiwanis International theme, "Mission Fulfillment," according to

John Touse, president of the Kiwanis Club of Belleville. "Many clubs have been involved in programs of service to older citizens for the past year operating 'Enrich the Lives of the Aging' programs of various kinds," Touse said.

The new program, which has the full support of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities in the United States, and the Canadian Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, will seek to help 20 per cent of the juvenile population of the two countries who have unsuspected learning disabilities.

In announcing the program, Kiwanis International President Roy W. Davis said that "with the combined effort of the Kiwanians and Kiwanis clubs in the two countries, Kiwanis may be able to reach one million children with learning disability screening programs during the next 12 months," a service of inestimable value, he added.

Dr. Sylvia O. Richardson.

assistant director of the university-affiliated program for learning disabilities at the University of Cincinnati, said: "I am absolutely delighted that

Kiwanis International is about to launch a program for children with learning disabilities. I can't think of a finer endeavor. The need is so great."

Sunday blood drive brings in 548 pints

Response to an appeal for volunteer blood donors on the Red Cross special blood donor drive, "Save A Life Sunday," brought the Southwestern Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross 548 pints of blood.

The volunteer blood donors were residents of the tri-county area including the communities of Belleville and Van Buren Township. Blood donations made on the following Monday and Tuesday pushed the total amount to 750 pints, according to the Red Cross.

"Because of cooperation and support from the community on Dec. 29, we have been able to meet hospital blood needs without difficulty," said Agnes Morris, director of donor resources development.

Red Cross declared Dec. 29 "Save A Life Sunday" when cancellation of 13 blood drives during December added to the traditional problems of collecting blood during the Christmas holidays.

According to Mrs. Morris, January will remain a critical month for blood collections due to the cancellation of 14 additional blood-mobile visits.

For this reason, Dearborn and western Wayne County area residents are urged to make an appointment to donate blood by calling 274-5450.

Romulus, Michigan 48174

Background

City of Romulus is applying for a Community Development Block Grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The primary objective of this program is "the development of viable urban communities, including decent housing and a suitable living environment and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income." The program consolidates several previous HUD programs, and is directed toward such objectives as:

- elimination of slums and blight.
- elimination of health safety, and welfare hazards.
- conservation of housing.
- more housing.
- expansion and improvement of community services.
- a more rational utilization of land and other natural resources.
- delocalizing income groups.
- restoration and preservation of historic properties.

To meet these objectives, certain activities are allowed. Some examples are:

- property acquisition.
- certain public works & facilities projects.
- rehabilitation projects.
- preparing comprehensive community development plans.
- Some activities are not allowed. For example, facilities for which the funds cannot be used include:
 - government offices (including courthouses).
 - stadiums and sports arenas.
 - schools.
 - transportation depots.
 - hospitals, and nursing homes.

Public Hearings

Prior to submission of an application, the City is required by the Federal law governing this program to have:

- (1) "Provided citizens with adequate information concerning the amount of funds available... the range of activities that may be undertaken, and other important program requirements."
- (2) "Held at least two public hearings..."
- (3) "Provided citizens an adequate opportunity to participate in the development of the application and in... any revisions, changes, or amendments."

However,

"the citizen participation requirements... do not include concurrence by any person or group involved in the citizen participation process in making final determinations concerning the findings and contents of the application. The sole responsibility and authority to make such final determination rests exclusively with the City of Romulus."

Each Public Hearing is to provide citizens with an opportunity to participate in the development of the application. An opportunity to propose revisions, changes, or amendments will be provided later when the application is formally presented to City Council.

Agenda

1. Introduction (10 Minutes)
 - a. Mention of Public Notice of Hearing
 - b. Introduction of Chairperson and City representatives
 2. City of Romulus presentation (30-45 minutes)
 3. Questions & answers dealing with City's presentation
 4. Open hearings on application
- Note: All hearings held at public schools must end by 11:30 p.m. so that the building can be cleared for closing.

The project consists of the construction of a one and two story junior high school containing approximately 130,000 sq. ft. of floor area plus necessary site work. The proposed work will utilize phased bidding and phased construction techniques employing separate prime contractors for individual trades work. The following phases of bidding have been established.

- Phase 1 - Site Work
- Phase 2 - Foundations, Bearing Walls, Structural Frames and other Long Delivery Items
- Phase 3 - Building Systems and Plumbing Work
- Phase 4 - Building Systems Work
- Phase 5 - Non-Systems Work
- Phase 6 - Non-Systems Work - Bituminous Paving & Landscaping

0010-02 Due Date, Time

Bids will be received until 2:00 PM EST, January 22, 1975, at the Office of the Board of Education, 36540 Grant Road, Romulus, Michigan, 48174, at which time and place all sealed proposals will be opened and publicly read aloud.

0010-03 Architects

Charles W. Sherman Associates, Inc.
838 West Long Lake Road
Bloomfield Hills, Michigan 48013

0010-04 Bidding Documents

Bidding documents will be available, on or after January 2, 1975, at the office of the Architects upon deposits of $25.00 for each set of plans and specifications obtained. A maximum of two sets will be given to Bidders on deposit. Bidding documents may be examined at the following locations:

The Office of the Architect
Detroit Office of the F. W. Dodge Corporation
Builder Exchange, Detroit, Michigan
Scan Photronix, Inc.

Deposits will be returned in full to each bidder who returns all documents in good condition within 10 days after opening of proposals. No refund will be made on drawings returned after the 10 day period mentioned above, or to contractors not submitting a bid. Contractors withdrawing from the bidding more than 5 calendar days before the receipt of bids will be entitled to a return of their deposit if the drawings are returned when the Architect is notified of the contractor's intent to not submit a bid.

0010-05 Scope of Proposals

Separate proposals will be received for the following work:

- Proposal 10A-2 Steel Stair Forms
- Proposal 10B-2 Steel Stairs
- Proposal 12-3 Plumbing Trades
- Proposal 13-3 Concrete (Flatwork)
- Proposal 14-3 Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning Trades
- Proposal 15-3 Electrical Trades
- Proposal 16-3 Rough Carpentry

0010-06 Proposal Guarantee

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check, cashiers check or bid bond payable to Romulus Community Schools, in an amount not less than 5 per cent of the maximum proposal amount. Such guarantee shall be forfeited to the Owner in the event that the successful bidder fails to enter into a contract with the Owner within ten calendar days after written notice of award of contract by the Owner or his agent.

0010-07 Proposal Conditions

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to award the contract to other than the low bidder, to accept any or all alternates, to waive irregularities and/or formalities, and in general to make the award in any manner deemed by him, in his sole discretion, to be to his best interest.

0010-08 Contract Security

The successful bidder shall furnish bonds covering the faithful performance of the Contract and payment of all obligations arising thereunder, each in the amount of 100 per cent of the Contract. Premiums shall be paid by the Contractor. Form of bonds shall be AIA A311.

THEY DID, YOU CAN—Adult High School Completion classes now available at Romulus Senior High School are free. Two of the students taking advantage of the opportunity and graduating are shown with three staff members of the community-school division of the Romulus School District.

Layoffs present educational time

The changing economic situation, with numerous layoffs in the automotive industry and supportive fields, has created a rather bleak situation and excellent opportunity to consider educational pursuits, according to Earl Lamb, assistant administrator of the Community-School Program of the Romulus School District.

Education probably is the safest road to take while you get prepared to enter a new job or position, Lamb added.

A good high school education is the key to many doors: college job training, apprenticeships, careers in the armed services, city, state and U.S. government jobs, he continued.

"Complete your high school education with us, it is free," he said. Adult High School Completion classes are available at the Romulus Senior High School, 9650 S. Wayne Road, from 7 - 10 p.m.; Romulus Public Library, located at 1121 S. Wayne Road next to the Romulus Municipal Building, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; and at the Oakbrook Community Center, located in the Oakbrook Housing complex on Eureka Road, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Job skill classes as well as hobby classes also are available at Romulus Senior High School during the hours of 7 - 10 p.m.

Persons who want to complete high school, learn a skill or spend leisure time wisely are asked to contact 941-1600 and ask for Bill Smith, community-school director; Cheryl Ward or Lamb.

Group will hold its first dance

Belleville area mothers and fathers who are square dance enthusiasts will have an opportunity to join their neighbors and friends Saturday when the Crackpot Squares of Belleville holds its first old-fashioned square dance.

The event, entitled "Mom and Pa Dance", will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Belleville's South Junior High School, located at 45201 Owen St.

Joe Reed of Belleville will be the caller at the square dance.

Weeks speaks of '76

The director of the Detroit Historical Program, Solon Weeks, presented an address concerning the restoration of Fort Wayne at a recent dinner-meeting of the Belleville Rotary Club.

Weeks actually is involved in the planning for the Detroit 1976 Centennial Celebration.

Fort Wayne, which will be a major feature in the centennial event, is located on W. Jefferson Avenue in Detroit along the north shore of the Detroit River.

The local Rotarians will be observing "Rotary Magazine Week" during next week. The Rotary's magazine was first published in 1911 and between the "The Rotarian" and "Reviats Rotaria," the circulation reportedly is about one-half million readers.

The Belleville Rotary Club meets at 6:15 p.m. every Tuesday at the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church in Belleville.

The club's current officers are: R. Lynne Hamilton, president; Wilson Wood, vice-president; Raymond Kohr, secretary; and Bernard Boyd, treasurer. These officers along with Robert Baker, Ben R. Robertson and Dean W. Payne, compose the board of directors.

Weekend retreat in works

The junior and senior high district youth weekend sponsored by the First United Methodist Church of Belleville will be held Jan. 25-26 at Adrian College in Adrian.

The theme of the weekend gathering is "Joy," a contemporary program of evangelism, music, sharing, fellowship, commitment, community and lots of Christian love to provide the framework for the event.

Things get 'back to normal' after hectic pace

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

The Van Allen household is slowly getting back to a normal pace after a busy and sometimes hectic holiday season. Jean and John welcomed their first guests Dec. 15 when their daughter, Brenda, her husband, Don Moore, and little daughter, Suzie, arrived from Jacksonville, Fla.

The trio (hitting icy stretches of highway) practically slid most of the way from Dayton with their U-Haul in tow — a rather harrowing experience since they hadn't even SEEN snow, let alone drive in it, for a number of years.

On Christmas Eve the Van Allens were joined by their son, Ron, and his wife, Caryn, who came in from Clarendon Hills, Ill. The entire group was entertained that night at the Lake Pointe Pass home of another Van Allen son and daughter-in-law, Den and Cheryl, and their daughter, Krista.

On the morning of the big day, the family enjoyed fun in the snow. Ron having brought his snow mobiles up from Illinois. Christmas supper was held at the senior Van Allen's Savage Road home with the whole clan plus Vi and Harley Simmons of Biggs Street enjoying the feast. For cards, reminiscing and other evening camaraderie they had the company of a former neighbor and close friend, Aggie Tkachuk, and her friend, Renee.

On the evening of the 26th the Van Allen "kids" took their parents to Win Schuler's in Ann Arbor for an early celebration of their 34th wedding anniversary; returning afterwards to Den and Cheryl's for cards and family talk.

Early Friday Ron and Caryn took off for their lakeside home near Lawton, Mich. for three days of snow mobiling, rest and relaxation.

On New Year's Eve the Dennis Van Allens and the Don Moores joined 14 of their friends and, again, dined at Schuler's before seeing in 1975 and partying at the home of the Gordon Van Valkenburgs.

Don is now attending classes at Great Lakes while his wife and daughter remain temporarily with her parents. On completing classes, Don will be assigned to recruiting duty for the U.S. Navy in Lincoln Park at which time the family will be househunting in the area and will be Michigan residents again for at least four years.

Foursome returns to Nebraska

The first week-end in January marked the departure date for Steve and Marianne Bullock who'd been in Michigan since mid-December. With their two sons, Shawn and Kevin, the couple motored from Grand Island, Neb. to be with their relatives and friends for the holidays.

Making their headquarters with her parents, the Rusty Halls of Romulus, the foursome also spent a week-end with

West Coast visit is over

Arriving back in Belleville Jan. 5 after a 10 day absence were George and Irene Roberts and son, Doug, of Belleville Road. The trio flew to California Dec. 26 for a holiday visit with their son, Gary, his wife, Lori, and their two daughters, Peggy and Jennifer, of Canoga Park.

Taking a drive to the desert with Gary and Lori, the threesome's last thought was of snow (thinking they'd left it all behind in Michigan.) They not only hit snow but were actually forced to stay overnight in Beatty, Nev. because of being SNOWED IN (in the desert?) The trip, which encompassed some 700 miles, also included Death Valley, Scotty's Castle and two days of fun and shows in Las Vegas.

On their return to California, they boarded the Queen Mary for a tour, and saw several television shows including "Password" and "Split Second" (sitting front row-center, thanks to arrangements made by their host.)

In Reseda they visited Irene's sister, Viola Knaeski, and in Santa Barbara called on her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Mack McInness, and also their son, Bill, whom they'd not seen in 40 years.

Doug's long-time interest, body building, was enhanced by his visit to the Gold Gym for Body Builders in Venice where he received tips from some of the country's top weight lifters.

Bon voyage to Cindy

Amid all the holiday hoop-la was a little bon voyage shower for Cindy Fernandez of Detroit, formerly of Romulus, who left Jan. 4 for London, England where she has been assigned a position with the State Department.

The honoree's cousin, Lenore Wills, co-hosted the luncheon with Maybelle White at the former's home on Wayne Road. Fifteen guests, mostly former neighbors, enjoyed showering Cindy with little gifts for her new apartment. They also presented her with an orcinid to wear on her trans-Atlantic flight the next day. Cindy expects to be away from home soil for at least two years.

We've moved!

We've moved! And we want you to be able to find us. So here's the location — 116 Fourth Street.

It's all very simple since we are still in the "heart of the city" in the same building (the old Van Buren Township Hall.) But now we're located in newer and more spacious offices just behind those we formerly used. Rather than coming in the front door, please try the side entrance on Fourth and you'll find that we're really still in business. Our hours remain the same — 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily. Stop in with your news or just drop in for a look at our new surroundings.

Spring vows being planned

The engagement of their daughter, Vicki Lee Palmer, to Terry Allan Bower is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Palmer of 128 Clarence St., Belleville.

The bride-elect, who is planning a spring wedding, graduated last June from Michigan State University where she studied clothing and textiles. She is a 1970 alumna of Belleville High School.

Her fiancé, the son of Mrs. Merlin Kerr of Romeo, Mich. and the late Allan Bower, resides at 6161 East Knoll, Flint. He graduated from Romeo High School in 1965 and from Michigan Technological University in 1969. He is employed by Texaco, Inc.

The couple plan to be married May 24 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

Food economist guest speaker at Garden Club

The Huron Valley Garden Club began the new year with a meeting Jan. 6 at the home of Mrs. Rose Vincent on E. Huron River Drive, Belleville. Twenty-two members and one guest attended.

The program on consumer affairs was conducted by Ms. Bobbie Kelley, food economist from Chatham Supermarkets. Through a question and answer period, the group received a number of tips on how to get more value for their food dollar. A short business meeting conducted by Mrs. William Hennells, president, was followed by a report by Mrs. Don Blend. The club's horticulture chairman, Mrs. Blend spoke on "How to Care for Your Poinsettia Plant."

Mrs. Melvin Budd, conservation chairman, gave a report on wild flowers.

The Feb. 3 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rodney Mast on Merle Court, Belleville.

MISS BEVEL

August 9 wedding planned

An August 9 wedding is being planned by Nancy Marie Bevel whose engagement to Christopher Henry Sanders is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Bevel of 44935 Willis Rd., Belleville.

Miss Bevel, who is employed at K-Mart in the Lakewood Shopping Center, is a 1974 graduate of Belleville High School.

Her fiancé, who graduated from Belleville High in 1973, is employed at Lakes Manufacturing of Belleville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal H. Sanders of 45081 Willis Rd., Belleville.

Rebekahs set linen bingo

BELLEVILLE — Astral Rebekah Lodge of Belleville will hold a linen bingo at 2 p.m. Jan. 26 at the PNA Hall, corner Sumpter and Harris Roads. Hand-crocheted pillow cases and other linens will be given as prizes. Refreshments will be available.

ANN ARBOR — Singles 25 and up are invited to join the Tuesday Nite Singles at the Ann Arbor "Y" on Jan. 21 to dance to the music of Guy and Gal from 9 to midnight. Refreshments will be served and dance instructions given from 7 to 8 p.m.

BELLEVILLE — Bingo games are being held each Wednesday at St. Anthony's Parish. The public is invited to the weekly sessions which begin at 6:45 p.m. in the Father Folta Building behind the church on W. Columbia Avenue.

Detective, violinist guests of BPW Club

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) held its first meeting of the new year Jan. 6 at South Junior High School. There were 39 in attendance including guests.

The Public Relation Committee, Dorothy R. Schroeder, Marie Clayton, Midge Artley, Ruth Baehr, Martha Morton and Virginia Bechtol, presented the program. The guest speaker was Detective Beverly Taylor of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department who spoke on the rape law and the changes that will be in effect April 8, 1975.

Detective Taylor has been with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department 12 years, previously she was with the city of Wyandotte as a police woman. Her speech and question and answer period were very informative.

Pamela Elliot, also on the program, honored the club with two violin numbers. A Belleville High School graduate, she is presently attending Indiana University working toward her bachelor's degree in violin performance. Pamela will be a prospective candidate for the club's young careerist program.

The regular meeting was held immediately after the program with reports from various committees being given.

The Spring District Meeting will be held April 8 at the Dearborn Inn.

You're looking at one of the reasons why there's never been a better time to put your money into a savings account at NBD.

7 1/2%

On Time Investment Certificates with a maturity of six years in amounts of $1000 or more.

As you can see, one reason is earnings. No bank pays a higher rate of interest on savings than National Bank of Detroit — now a full 7-1/2% annual return on investments of $1000 or more over the next six years.

But what's also important to remember is that that money is guaranteed. At NBD, your money is protected by the Federal government and backed by our own assets — largest of any bank in Michigan. There is no safer, surer investment.

We have a savings plan to fit your savings plan. No matter what you're saving for, we have a savings plan that will help you achieve your goal. In addition to our new 7-1/2% Time Investment Certificates, NBD also offers:

- 7-1/4% on Time Investment Certificates with a maturity of 4 years in amounts of $1000 or more.
- 6-1/2% on Time Investment Certificates with a maturity of 30, 36 or 42 months in amounts of $1000 or more.
- 6% on Time Investment Certificates with a maturity of 12, 18 or 24 months in amounts of $1000 or more.
- 5-1/2% on Time Deposit Savings that mature every calendar quarter.

5% on our EveryDay Interest Account — the savings account that makes you a little richer every day.

Come to NBD now.

Stop by any one of our conveniently located NBD offices and choose the savings plan that best fits your savings plans. You'll have peace of mind knowing that your money is earning the highest rate of interest any bank can pay — in Michigan's biggest bank.

Making banking better for you.

Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate.

Mrs. Harry Wilkinson of Liberty Street returned to Belleville Jan. 5, from San Jose, Costa Rica, where she had spent the holidays with her son, Harry, his wife and their three sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Maki of Bryn Mawr, Pa., left on Monday of last week after having spent a week with his parents, the George Makis of Quirk Road, and her parents, the Dale Phillipses of Kozma Road.

Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street was a recent week-end guest of Mrs. Harold Klais of River Rouge.

Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Demske of Dearborn were callers last week at the Belleville home of Mr. and Mrs. D.H. Raymond Sr. of Wabash Street.

The Retired Teachers' Book Club met for a special meeting Jan. 4, to honor a former member. Mrs. Marie Comstock, now retired and living at Phoenix, Ariz. Following lunch at Town & Country in Belleville, all enjoyed a social time at the Liberty Street home of Velma Kulzer.

Mrs. Harold Leschinsky of E. Columbia Avenue has received word that her son, Eugene of Lancaster, Calif., a sheriff in Los Angeles County, was injured while answering a call on New Year's Day in Hollywood. He was hospitalized with a bullet in his thigh as was his partner who was shot in the stomach.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maki of Quirk Road spent last week-end in Des Plaines, Ill.

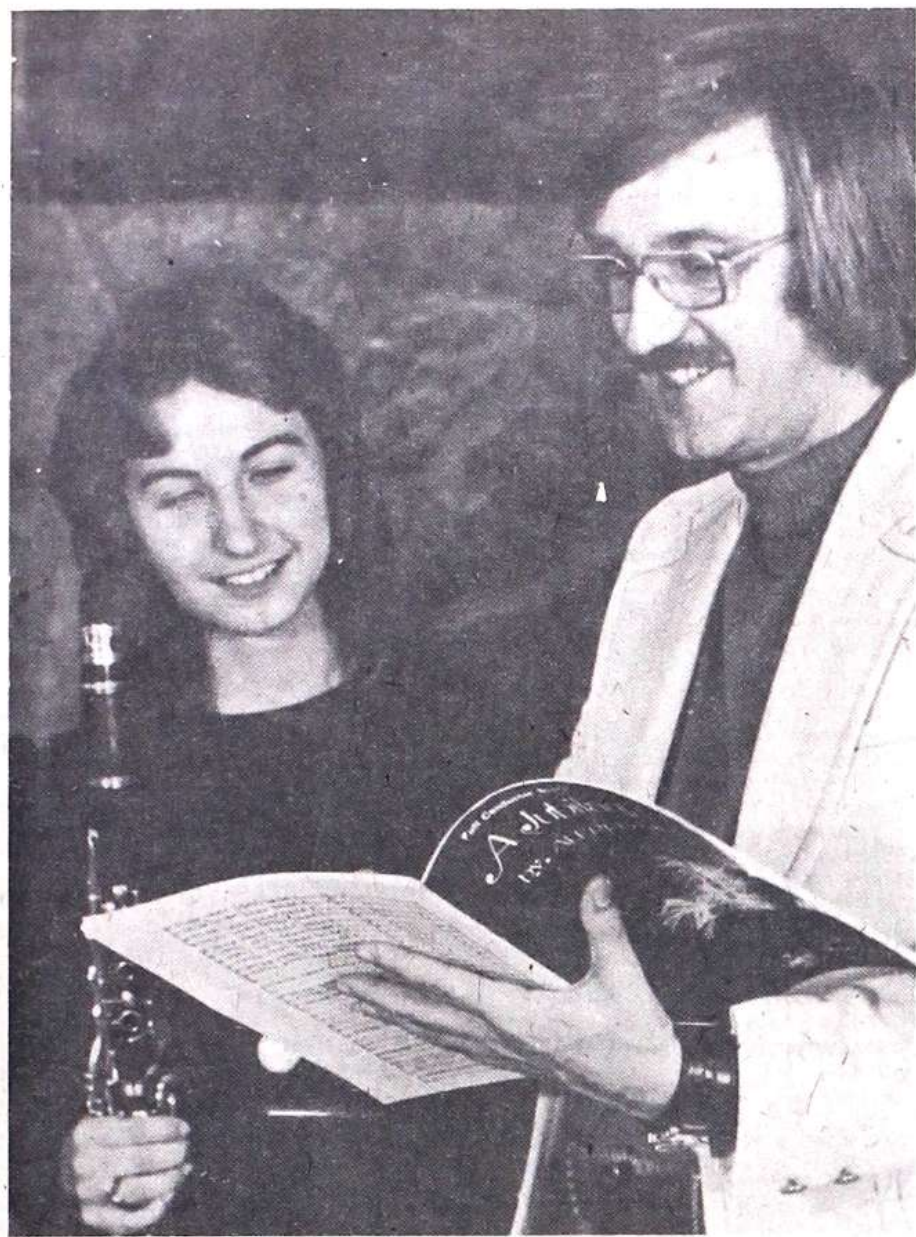

with her mother, Mrs. Fay Domenget, and sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rundblom.

Mrs. Juanita Akers of Liberty Street returned to Belleville Jan. 7 from Vienna, Va. where she had spent the holidays with her son, Ray, and family.

Mrs. Joseph Spring of Liberty Street returned to Belleville Jan. 5 after having accompanied her son, Herbert, and family of Plymouth, on a trip to Florida over the holidays. Highlights of the trip were a tour of the city of Savannah, Ga., a visit to the Kennedy Space Center, the Everglades National Park and Disney World. They also spent some time at Daytona Beach, Sanibel Island, and called on friends at Winter Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Boldt's nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Cubberly, of Pittsfield Village. The family will soon be moving to Maine where he will be stationed at Loring Air Force Base.

INTERNATIONAL BAND MEMBER — Belleville student Brenda Alsbaugh is participating in Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp's 1975 International Band. The band, dedicated to the promotion of goodwill and understanding, will travel Europe this summer. Brenda is shown with Ted Bazany, director of the International Band. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDougal of 47279 North Shore Drive in Belleville.

Belleville clarinetist to join traveling band

A Belleville High School junior will be participating in the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp's International Band and travel to Europe as a goodwill ambassador for the Belleville community.

Brenda Alsbaugh, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. McDougal of 47279 North Shore Drive in Belleville, will be traveling with the group overseas this summer.

Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp's International Program is dedicated to the promotion of goodwill and understanding among the people of the world through cultural exchange and "the universal language of music."

The program for 1975 will include three musical organizations. The International Band will tour Denmark and Sweden, the International Choir will visit Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg and the International Youth Symphony will travel to Norway and Sweden.

Miss Alsbaugh plays the clarinet in the International Band.

Although membership in all three groups is almost complete, several openings remain in Blue Lake's Youth Symphony. The openings are for one violin, one viola, one cello, one string bass, one percussion and one trumpet.

Interested high school musicians may call Gretchen Stansell, director of the International Program at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

Mrs. Stansell can be reached for information and audition appointment by calling (616) 894-8325.

It's time to consider re-vamping the budget

If planning for saving gave you fits even before runaway inflation came along, here's a new tack: organize a family spending plan, suggests Penny Scott, family financial adviser for Oak Park Federal Savings and Loan Association, Oak Park, Ill.

For such a plan, do the following:

— Make a list of goals and priorities for your family. Put down all the things you want and need. Include short-range items like a brief vacation or re-upholstering Dad's favorite chair. Also list distant goals, like money for college, weddings, or retirement.

Establish specific dollar amounts for each item and set up a time schedule. Then decide which of these goals comes first.

January dates set by WOTM

Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 1135, will hold an Academy of Friendship meeting at the home of Martha De Paulis, 6515 Mayburn, Dearborn Heights. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

The College of Regents meeting will take place at the home of June Sanders on Willis Road, Belleville, at 7:30 p.m.

One new candidate, Edith Miller, was enrolled Dec. 9. Fish fries are still held from 5 to 8 p.m. each Friday evening.

— Determine how much income your family has left after deducting income taxes and social security payments. This should include salary or wages, tips, business income, interest from savings accounts, and dividends. Include everybody's earnings.

If family income is irregular, try to establish the minimum and maximum you expect to earn. You can then apply the minimum to your family's basic needs and major wants. Allow for food, clothing, shelter, transportation, recreation, household operations, medical care, savings, contributions, gifts, and personal spending money.

— Keep records. You must know how much you're spending and where you're spending it, as well as how much you may be saving.

If you haven't been keeping records, do so for at least three months. This will give a reasonable idea of what you'll be spending in each category over a year for your basic expenses. It will also start you off on your plan of spending and savings.

— Set up your financial plan. It should include your goals, income, and expenses.

— This is a very individual thing. What each family budgets for different categories of expense depends on the size of the family; ages, where you live, and your own personal likes and needs and ambitions.

Not all goals necessarily involve savings for things. Your most immediate goal may be to reduce or eliminate your debts. There are several approaches that may work. You can try to cut other expenses so you can pay off some bills. Or you can find a way to earn extra income to increase payments on your debts.

Darren beats tax deadline

Arriving just in time to be a tax deduction for his parents, Darren Jay Hagen put in his appearance Dec. 30 at Women's Hospital in Ann Arbor. The first child of Raymond and Carol Hagen of 1119 S. Harris Rd., Ypsilanti, the baby weighed in at 8 lbs. 9 oz.

The new mother, the former Carol Merritt, is employed as a secretary for the Van Buren Township Building Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Merritt of Belleville and Donald Hagen of Ann Arbor are the infant's grandparents.

Flea market finds

Wooden coffee mills could be 'fun finds'

Q. "Aren't those old wooden-type coffee mills fun finds?" — Mrs. R. T.

A. Those grand old-fashioned coffee mills were manufactured by many American firms in the late 1800s. Current prices make it difficult to believe that most of them originally retailed for between $1 and $10 each.

Coffee drinkers waited patiently while freshly roasted beans were ground in an Enterprise, Sun, Ever-Ready, Monitor or Universal coffee mill, to mention a few. Value guide: Lap-type, wooden base, circa 1900, $27.

Q. "I just adore Parian. How old is this attractive ware?" — Gail, Westland.

A. The unglazed porcelain known as Parian was introduced by the Copeland Manufactory of England in the early 1840s. It was their wish to market inexpensive small scale replicas of famous modern and antique statuary subjects. Thus, the name "Statuary Porcelain" often was used to describe the figures, groups and busts made of Parian by potters in England and America for the duration of the century. Value guide: Ear of corn vase, 6-inches tall, $26.50.

Q. "We found an old Sweet Sixteen Face Powder Box made by the California Perfume Co. in the bureau drawer. Would anyone want it?" — Mr. and Mrs. B. B.

A. The California Perfume Co. established in New York City in 1886 is known around the world today as Avon Products Inc. There are thousands of avid Avon collectors. Their Sweet Sixteen Face Powder was a fast seller around the turn of the century, retailing for 25 cents. Now days, these boxes sell for between $40 and $50 each, depending upon condition.

Dan D'Imperio's new fully illustrated book and value guide, "The ABC's of Victorian Antiques," Dodd Mead, $9.95, now is available. An autographed postpaid copy can be ordered from the Star-Telegram Syndicate Inc., 400 W. 7th St., Fort Worth, Tex. 76102.

Budget-wise menus can beat inflation

With unemployment in the state topping 11 per cent in December and inflation continuing to erode the buying power of money, Western Wayne County residents are beginning to look for budget-wise menus to serve their families.

The challenges to the American homemaker's ingenuity are not small today: to serve interesting, attractive meals without sacrificing quality and nutrition. To stretch available money, time, effort, and energy as far as possible.

But there's still plenty of good eating ahead, thanks to the wide range of top quality convenience foods developed by the food industry. There are a lot of options when it comes to mealtime preparation, if home-makers take advantage of the best of these versatile, quick-cooking ingredients, packaged mixes, stuffings, sauces, seasonings.

Today's cook need only let imagination take over. With these products she can create all kinds of colorful, hearty and satisfying new dishes. What's more, with creative use of convenience items, she can apply her ideas to the week's current supermarket specials, giving a new look to low-cost meat cuts, poultry and vegetables.

With a rice and gravy mix with chicken-flavored gravy or brown gravy giving a 5-minute head start, skillet dinners get to the table in a hurry—like the famous Country Captain chicken and rice combination. Or a quick version of Italy's Risotto (rice and peas). The ready-in-a-hurry rice with its great flavored gravy adds new quality to any menu.

Stuffings used to require long cooking and thus were limited to the "holiday bird." Now, a great tasting stuffing dresses up mealtime in minutes. They can be prepared on top of the range or in the oven to suit the rest of the meal. Add any one to vegetables to make an elegant side dish, one that actually can take over the starring role at mealtime. The combinations are so tasty no one will be aware you're minimizing the meat. These stuffing mixes also make great casseroles or one-dish extenders for a small amount of meat or poultry.

QUICK COUNTRY CAPTAIN SKILLET

1 can (1 pound) tomato wedges Water
1 package (5 ounces) rice and gravy mixture, with chicken flavor
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 1/2 teaspoons garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon leaf thyme
2 teaspoons sugar
1 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken
4 green onions with tops, sliced
1/2 - 1 teaspoon curry powder
1 cup water
1/2 cup toasted flaked coconut or slivered almonds

Drain tomatoes, reserving liquid. Add water to liquid to make 1 one-third cups. Combine tomatoes, liquid, rice, raisins, butter, salt, thyme and sugar in 10-inch skillet. Bring to boil. Cover and simmer until all liquid is absorbed, about five minutes. Stir in chicken and green onion. Prepare gravy according to package directions, adding curry powder with one cup water. Serve gravy over chicken and rice mixture. Sprinkle with coconut or almonds. Makes four servings.

COUNTRY-STYLE SAUSAGE SKILLET

1 package (6 ounces) stuffing mix
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sliced celery
one-third cup chopped walnuts
1 pound pork sausage links, cooked as directed
1 jar (8 ounces) applesauce Cinnamon

Combine contents of seasoning packet, water, butter and celery in 10-inch skillet; stir. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer five minutes. Add crumbs and cook about one minute, stirring frequently. Stir in walnuts. Arrange sausages on top. Spoon applesauce over sausages; cover and warm over low heat about five minutes. Sprinkle applesauce with cinnamon. Makes six servings.

QUICK RISI BISI

1/4 pound fresh mushrooms or 1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 package rice and gravy with brown gravy
2 one-third cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup frozen peas, thawed
2 tablespoons dry red wine
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Saute mushrooms in butter in medium saucepan until almost tender, about three to five minutes. Add rice, one-third cups water and salt; stir. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until all water is absorbed, about five minutes. Stir peas into cooked rice. Cover and heat about five minutes. Meanwhile, in small saucepan, combine contents of gravy packet and remaining 1 cup water. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and simmer one minute. Stir in wine and Worcestershire sauce. Serve over rice. Makes four servings.

Planning aids in cost cutting

With inflationary pressures on all sides, shoppers are learning that a drop in farm prices doesn't automatically result in lower prices for food at the supermarket.

While you can't expect to reduce your food bill any time in the near future, you may be able to do a better job of managing your food dollars wisely.

Here's a roundup of food management tips from a group of consumer specialists across the country:

1. Spend less time in the grocery store, and always have a carefully prepared shopping list in hand when you do go.

Studies have shown that you spend about 50 cents for every minute in the supermarket. And every extra trip you make to the store for something you forget the first time around costs on the average of $7.00 - most of it for things you didn't intend to buy.

2. Take advantage of the featured weekly "specials" at the grocery.

Specialists say you can pare about six per cent off your food costs if you do.

3. Compare prices at different stores in your area, you may be in for a surprise.

A recent survey in Ohio showed shoppers can save as much as one-fourth on their food bill by shopping at a store with the lowest prices in a given area. Price spread per item in the different stores varied as much as 34 cents for a dozen of eggs, and as much as $1.50 a pound for center-cut pork chops.

4. Look before you reach. Mass displays of one particular item, often casually thrown in a big basket, suggest bargains. Sometimes they actually are, but sometimes they're regularly priced.

Take a close look, too, at items marked "two-for." Sometimes you can save a small amount by buying multiple price items. But surveys show people buy them even when no savings is involved.

SAVING MONEY—Homemakers hoping to trim some money off their ever-growing food bills will find that simplicity in meal planning can cut down on the amount needed while pre-planning before the weekly trips to the supermarket can keep spending within bounds. Try mixing from-scratch recipes with prepared foods and the result may be a double savings and a treat for the family.

Simplicity trims food bill

It's easy when using milk, cheese

Impossible turns into possible with planning when it comes to cutting food costs.

And the first step is to go back to simplicity, gearing the family to enjoying hearty meals minus expensive, frilly foods.

It's easy when using a variety of cheeses and milk in main dishes and menus that offer stretchability to more expensive meats, fish and fowl.

Try these budget-stretching meals on your family and watch them smile.

MONTEREY CHILI

1 pound ground beef
1 cup chopped onion (1 large)
1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce special
1 can (1lb.) kidney beans, undrained
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 bay leaf
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese Monterey Jack

1 1/2 cups whipped potatoes
In a large skillet brown meat and onion. Drain off fat. Stir in tomato sauce, kidney beans with liquid, chili powder and bay leaf. Bring to a boil and simmer 30 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Remove from heat; stir in cheese until melted. If necessary return to low heat to finish melting cheese. Do not boil. Pour about one cup chili into six individual casseroles; top each with 1/4 cup whipped potatoes. Garnish each serving with cheddar cheese. Makes six servings.

DEVILISH MEAT BALLS

1 pound ground beef
1 can (4 1/2 oz.) deviled ham
3/4 cup herb seasoned stuffing
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
1 egg
one-third cup milk
1 tablespoon butter

3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon beef stock base hot buttered rice or noodles

In a large bowl combine beef, ham, stuffing, onion, egg and one-third cup milk. Form into 18 meat balls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. In a large skillet, melt butter. Brown meat balls well, turning occasionally. Remove meat balls to warm serving dish. Blend flour into drippings. Cook over low heat until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; gradually add two cups milk and beef stock. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook one additional minute. Serve meat balls and gravy with rice or noodles. Makes six servings.

SWISS FRIED POTATO PIE

6 tablespoons butter
2 pounds potatoes, peeled and diced
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Dash of pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 pound Braunschweiger liver sausage, cut in 1/4-inch slices
1/4 pound Swiss cheese, thinly sliced Paprika

In large skillet melt butter. Add potatoes, onion, salt and pepper. Cook slowly, turning occasionally, until potatoes are almost tender and nicely browned, about 30-40 minutes. Remove from heat. Blend in egg. Spread potatoes evenly in skillet. Arrange sausage slices on potatoes; top with cheese. Sprinkle paprika lightly over all. Cover. Return to low heat and cook about 15 minutes until flavors blend and cheese melts. Cut like a pie and serve immediately. Makes six-eight servings.

NOODLES SQUARES ITALIENNE

1 package (8 oz.) wide noodles
3 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper

Sauce:

1 pound mild Italian sausage Butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 bottle (14 oz.) catsup
1 1/4 cups milk
3/4 teaspoon leaf oregano
3/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

To prepare Noodle Squares: Cook noodles according to package directions; drain. In a large bowl combine eggs, milk, salt and pepper. Add noodles; toss. Turn into buttered 8-inch square baking dish. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven, 35-40 minutes, or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean.

To prepare Sauce: if using link sausage, remove casing. In large skillet cook sausage, breaking meat up with fork into little chunks; pour meat drippings into measuring cup; add sufficient butter to make 1/4 cup. Return meat drippings to skillet; cook onion and green pepper until tender. Stir in flour. Remove from heat; stir in catsup, milk and oregano. Heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook one additional minute. Remove from heat; stir in cheese. Yield: approx. 4 1/2 cups. To Serve: Cut noodles into squares and top with sauce. Makes nine servings.

BOSS OF THE YEAR—The Detroit Legal Secretaries Association has named 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski the "Boss of the Year 1974-75." The honor came as a "complete surprise," said Zaborowski, who assumed his duties as the court's newest judge on Jan. 1. Zaborowski (left) is shown with his secretary Mary Orstadius (seated right). Standing are (from left) Erwin Ziegelman, Millie Lewandowski, Bert Burgoyne and Clara Weidenfeller.

Zaborowski wins title as 'Boss of the Year'

The Detroit Legal Secretaries Association has named 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski as the "Boss of the Year 1974-75." Zaborowski, a Belleville attorney with offices in Wyandotte, assumed the duties of the district court's newest judge on Jan. 1. He was elected to the court post in the November general election.

Zaborowski's selection by the legal secretaries as "Boss of the Year 1974-75" came as a "complete surprise," he said.

The announcement and presentation of the honor was made at a recent dinner held at the Detroit Yacht Club.

The judge was presented with the "traveling trophy" with his name engraved on it and will turn it over to his successor next year.

He also was presented with a smaller paperweight trophy to retain as a memento of the occasion.

Building supervisor named in VB district

The Van Buren Public School District has a new supervisor of buildings and maintenance has been disclosed by Van Buren School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz.

Randolph, who succeeds Edwin Peck Jr., was one of four applicants recently interviewed by school officials and administrators.

Peck, who submitted his resignation in November after four years of service, accepted a position with the Paradise Valley School District located at Paradise Valley, Ariz.

The new supervisor attended elementary and high school in Detroit. He also attended Lawrence Institute of Technology where he studied industrial management and currently is attending Eastern Michigan University enrolled in the school of industrial technology and engineering.

Prior to assuming his new duties with the school district, Randolph was employed at the Wayne Assembly Plant of the Ford Motor Co. as a plant layout and equipment design engineer.

Randolph's wife, Bonnie, is a registered nurse employed at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit.

Automotive roundup

Economist says to 'wait'

The top economist for the nation's largest brokerage firm says Americans should wait to buy a new car. He thinks prices are ready to drop.

Dr. Albert H. Cox Jr. of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith says the automakers are going to cut their prices. Chrysler became the first to cut prices on Monday by offering rebates of up to $400.

"We feel there is a downward pressure that will force the automakers to lower their prices," Cox continued. "I know they say they aren't going to do it, but they always say this when a recession begins."

The economist said auto companies first will take off optional equipment to cut prices, then try rebate schemes.

"Eventually they'll mark down the sticker prices," he said. "But that will come last."

"If auto firms cut prices and don't get stubborn, car sales ought to bottom out in February and then start to climb steadily."

'Car sales ought to bottom out in February and then start to climb.'

Union white collars?

The United Auto Workers (UAW) plans a massive organizing drive among the auto industry's more than 100,000 white collar workers as soon as thousands now on layoff are recalled to their jobs.

The UAW has seen its dues-paying membership, mostly hourly workers, cut by some 250,000 in the past year because of heavy layoffs.

As a result, according to union sources, white collar workers are being considered with renewed interest.

"Our doors already are open to anybody who wants to get in," said Douglas Fraser, UAW vice-president and director of the union's technical, office and professional department.

Sources said the union plans to exploit the reported discontent stirred among non-union, salaried personnel during the current auto recession. This discontent resulted from drastic measures adopted by some companies to cut costs, including the elimination of certain fringe benefits previously granted to white collar personnel not covered by union contracts.

Ford to fight FTC

Ford Motor Co. says it will fight a Federal Trade Commission (FTC) allegation that its auto mileage ads are misleading.

The FTC last week said it plans formal administrative action on a complaint charging that Ford ran misleading ads for its cars' gasoline mileage.

The FTC had issued the complaint in proposed form last July along with similar complaints against other major automakers as part of what the agency said was a comprehensive effort to keep honest the advertising claims of energy savings.

The Ford ads under challenge said four cars driven by television personality Hugh Downs and others got at least 26 miles per gallon on a run from Phoenix to Los Angeles.

"The test conditions and the equipment on each of the cars tested were fully described in the ads," said H.R. Nolte Jr., Ford vice-president and general counsel. "Contrary to what the complaint alleges, the ads did not say the ordinary driver would get the advertised mileage in typical driving conditions."

"We already have submitted detailed substantiation in support of these ads showing they are true," Nolte added.

Goodyear lays off

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. will indefinitely lay off 190 workers at its Jackson plant over the next two weeks because of decreased auto demand.

Philip W. Rowberg, plant manager, said the cutbacks would reduce employment at the facility to around 1,700 workers. Remaining workers will continue on a 5-day week, he added.

AMC prices Pacer

American Motors disclosed last week that the manufacturer's suggested retail price on its all-new wide small car, the Pacer, will be $3,299.

The Pacer is offered in three versions: a standard model, luxury "D-L," and a sporty "X." Optional equipment items generally are priced the same as AMC's Gremlin and Hornet.

For opera season

Met picks new casts

Entertainment

The selection of casts for the 1975 Detroit season of the Metropolitan Opera Company has been made, following the recent annual meeting of the Detroit Grand Opera Association (DGOA), sponsors of the local Met season.

Also, Mrs. John C. Griffin of Grosse Pointe Farms was selected as general co-chairman of the 1975 season.

Wilber H. Mack, president of the DGOA, outlined highlights of an expanded promotional program to stimulate greater awareness of opera week.

"The Met is recognized everywhere as the finest opera company in the world, and Detroit is one of only seven cities included in its annual national tour," Mack said. "Opera is for everyone, and plenty of tickets are available for nearly every performance. We must get this message across to everyone in the community."

A key part of the promotional program will be the mailing and distribution of colorful opera brochures to more than 50,000 households in the Detroit and Western Wayne County areas, Mack added.

Included in the brochures will be details and illustrations about the season and a form on which recipients may order tickets well in advance of box office sales.

"The cost of presenting the Met increases each year," Mack said. "During the 1975 season it will require more than $80,000 to raise the curtain on each production. However, those ordering tickets will be pleased to know there has been no increase in prices."

The DGOA official listed the following performances among those to be presented during the coming season:

— Rossini's "L'Assedio di Corinto" with Beverly Sills, Shirley Verrett, Harry Thayer and Justino Diaz on April 28.

— Gounod's "Romeo et Juliette" with Judith Blegen, Franco Corelli, Dominic Cossa and John Macurdy on April 29.

— Verdi's "Falstaff" with Evelyn Lear, Benita Valente, Fedra Barbieri, Cornell MacNeil, Jose Carreras, and Thomas Stewart on April 30.

— Verdi's "La Forza del Destino" with Rachel Mathes, Richard Tucker, Matteo Manuguerra and James Morris on May 1.

— A double bill of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" with Elinor Rags and Barry Morell followed by Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" with Atsuko Azuma, James McCracken and Lenus Carlson on May 2.

— Verdi's "La Traviata" with Adriana Maliponte, Enrico DiGiuseppe and Robert Merrill on May 3.

— Puccini's "La Boheme" with Katia Ricciarelli, Rita Shane, Franco Corelli and Giorgio Tozzi on May 3.

Never mind this, but it's Vonnegut

By RIC BOHY
The Enterprise-Roman
Book Reviewer

This review probably should not be written. Why write about a book that surely already is known to those who might be interested in reading it. Why give up the space to such a work?

Because I like Kurt Vonnegut Jr.

As is the case of most other seriously afflicted admirers of this Hoosier humanist, I knew that his latest release, "Wampeters, Foma & Granfaloon," was on the way long before it hit the bookstore racks.

I had combed the various weekly issues of book reviews and publishers' advance notices waiting for some sign of continued life from the man who wrote "Cat's Cradle," "Slaughterhouse Five," "Welcome to the Monkey House," "God Bless You, Mr. Rosewater" and myriad other literary curiosities.

Now it is here. Described by the author as "a collection of everything I had ever written which had never been put between hard covers before," the volume contains essays, an unproduced screenplay and several speeches made before various august assemblages.

The title of the collection, according to Vonnegut, is made up of three words from another of his works. A wampeter, he tells us, is "an object around which the lives of many otherwise unrelated people may revolve." Foma—the plural form of "fomum," I presume—"are harmless untruths, intended to comfort simple souls." And a granfaloon is "a proud and meaningless association of human beings."

And those things are exactly what he deals with between this set of hard covers. The man touches us with his own compassion for the vain struggles of the Biafrans; he tells us why euthanasia is not really such a horrible thought when compared with what the wonders of medical science may lead us to; and he describes in sensual detail the pleasures of sailing lazily down an inland waterway in Joseph Kennedy's largely unused yacht.

This book would serve well as an introduction to the uninitiated. Those who have not been touched by Vonnegut's sad humor and boundless joy can find a great many interesting pieces of the man shoved almost haphazardly between these two covers.

But then, if they haven't read him before this they probably won't be interested. Yeah, this review probably shouldn't have been written.

Village roster lists pre-'76 events

On the eve of America's bicentennial, Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum has released their 1975 Calendar of Events.

A complete list of special events, exhibits, theater presentations and lectures for the new year is described in a special brochure.

The events got under way at the museum yesterday, with the 1-month Famous American exhibit, this year featuring black inventor Lewis Howard Latimer. From Jan. 27 through Feb. 9 a weaving demonstration will be presented in the museum illustrating finishing processes for wool and flax.

Sports Cars in Review, the largest sports car show of its kind in the country opens in the museum Feb. 28 and continues through March 23 featuring cars of the 1945 to 1960 period.

The colonial agriculture exhibit in the museum April 11 through June 2 opens the spring season which continues with the Country Fair of Yesteryear in the Village May 15 to 18.

Costumed Civil War buffs will gather at the Village the weekend of June 21 and 22 for the 21st annual Muzzle Loaders Festival.

Beginning June 28 and continuing through Labor Day, the Greenfield Village Players present the Old Time Summer Festival, a series of summer diversions recalling the entertainments of yesteryear.

A special exhibit, The Circus, opens June 28 in the museum and continues through Sept. 14.

Also in the museum during the months of July and August is "Industrial Heritage U.S.A.," a bicentennial exhibition tracing 200 years of American industrial progress.

America's past comes to life on July 4 with the presentation of "Let Freedom Ring," a pageant commemorating the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The bicentennial theme continues Aug. 23 and 24 at the Colonial Military Muster in the Village.

Antique autos, high wheel bicycles, Dixieland music and flapper hostesses recall the excitement of America's early motoring days at the 25th annual Old Car Festival scheduled for Sept. 6 and 7.

On Oct. 4 and 5, crafts, country music and demonstrations of antique farm machinery re-create

Greek classic looms on Hilberry horizon

Western Wayne County residents looking ahead will find an adaptation of a Greek classic on the horizon of productions offered this year by the Hilberry Theater of Wayne State University.

Robinson Jeffers' adaptation of Euripides' "Medea" opens at the Hilberry Theatre Feb. 5 and continues at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday and Saturday through April.

"Medea," a prize-winning Greek classic, has been translated countless times, has been the basis of dozens of new plays, and has been treated as opera, poetry and even a Victorian domestic burlesque entitled "Medea, or the best of mothers with a brute of a husband."

Jeffers, who also adapted Euripides' "Hippolytus" as "The Cretan Woman," rewrote the 2400-year-old tragedy in 1946, retaining the original time and legend. It tells the story of the revenge of a princess who is forsaken in a strange land by a politically ambitious husband.

In the Hilberry production, Medea is played by Harper Jane McAdoo and Jason, her husband, by Thomas C. Spackman. Both are in their second year with the Hilberry company.

Miss McAdoo has appeared as Ilona Szabo in "The Play's the Thing," as Gertrude in "Hamlet," Lady Claire Gurney in "The Ruling Class," the Governor's Wife in "Tavern,"

Miss Casewell has appeared in "The Mousetrap," Dorine in "Tartuffe," and Charlotte Verrinder in "The Magistrate." Spackman's roles include Valere in "Tartuffe," Horatio in "Hamlet," Sergeant Lugg in "The Magistrate" and Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew," the last role he shares with Justin Rashid.

The cast also includes Al Hamacher as Creon, Colby Schneider as the Nurse, Wayne S. Turney as the Tutor, James Kisicki as Aegaeus and Jon Loufman as Jason's slave.

The production is directed by Richard Spear, with scenery designed by Linda Conner Baldwin, costumes by Daniel Thomas Field and lighting by Gary M. Witt.

The reportory schedule and ticket information may be obtained from the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office in the Hilberry lobby, Cass and Hancock, or by calling 577-2972.

Free lunch program serves nutritious meals

The Van Buren Public School District serves well-balanced and nutritious lunches with milk every full school day, according to a report on the school district's operation of its student feeding programs.

Currently elementary school student lunches cost 50 cents with an additional five cents for milk, and both junior and high school student lunches cost 60 and 75 cents with an additional five cents for milk.

Children from families whose income is at or below the level of the food program guidelines and who are eligible for free meals, also are eligible for free milk, said Jack M. Hosmer, director of business for the school district.

If a family has an income greater than the guideline levels, but has unusually high medical bills, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of the family income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of the student, or disaster or casualty losses, the children may still be eligible, he added.

The family size and corresponding state income scale according to the guidelines ranged from one child and state income of $2,910 to a family of 12 children with a state income of $11,530.

For each additional family member over 12, add $670 to the annual state income level, Hosmer said.

To apply at any time during the school year for free meals and free milk, complete the application on the reverse side of the informational letter recently sent to parents, and return it to the school principal, Hosmer continued.

"Within 10 days of receiving the application, the school will inform the parent or guardian whether or not their children are eligible," he added.

If the parent or guardian does not agree with the school's decision, he has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by writing Hosmer at 555 W. Columbia Ave., Belleville, 48111, or call 697-9123 for information.

In the operation of the child feeding program, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color or national origin. All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay.

In certain cases, foster children also are eligible for these benefits. If you have foster children living with you and wish to apply for such meals and milk, notify school officials or indicate this information on the application, Hosmer said.

Only one application need be submitted per family, but all children's names and the name of the school each attends should be included.

The application will be considered and the school principal will notify those who are eligible for free lunch and free milk, he added.

The director of business will reply by letter to those who are not approved.

Audit leads to honest deed

It is somewhat surprising to hear about honesty in government in these post-Watergate days, but one Belleville official recently had just that type of story to tell.

Belleville City Clerk Jean

Baumdraher presented at the recent session of the City Council a communication she received from Henry Deering of Belleville containing $69.88 in bills and change from a bank account dating back 20 years.

Deering, who was the treasurer of the city's "Golden Anniversary" celebration, wrote that he had received a letter from the National Bank of Detroit's audit section stating that there was still some money left in the organization's account.

The communication was addressed to the City Council and contained the money and change.

The council directed the money be deposited in the city's general fund and ordered the city clerk to dispatch a letter of thanks to Deering.

Unemployment woes given 'shot in the arm'

The unemployment situation in Van Buren Township has received a shot in the arm with the decision of the Van Buren

Township government to hire additional employees.

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said the township will hire employees in the following categories: laborers, clerical and one person with civil engineering experience.

The employees will be hired under the provisions of the federal financed Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA), which became operational in September 1974.

The township's initial grant from CETA amounted to $66,892 with approximately $55,000 remaining for the hiring of new employees.

The federal distribution of CETA fund allotments for the 1975-76 operational period, which is yet to be announced, will bring additional CETA funds to the township.

Applicants should be Van Buren Township residents and registered with the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Applications may be filed at the Township Hall, located at 46425 Tyler Road.

Hockey players to dance

The Romulus Hockey Association is sponsoring a dance Feb. 15 at the VFW Hall on Huron River Drive. Proceeds from the dance will be used to help pay for ice time for spring league hockey games within the association.

The Romulus Hockey Association consists of four teams in three age categories — Mites, Squirts and Mighty Mites. Dick MacLeod is president of the association, which relies on Romulus Recreation Department funding.

The association plays its games at the Ice Box arena in Brownstown Township.

Site plan approved

A site plan for a proposed child care center in Van Buren Township has received the approval of the Van Buren Township Planning Commission.

The child care center slated for construction on the south service drive of I-94 near Haggerty Road is the project development of Charles Paas and John Ramsey, both of the Belleville area.

Specific building plans are yet to be filed with the Township Building Department and subject to further review and approval by the Planning Commission and township trustees.

The new child care center is to be housed in a 1-story structure.

Home improvement

START AT THE TOP—If you're insulating your home in stages, experts agree that the place to start is the attic. This is the place where the greatest heat loss occurs in the winter, just as the greatest heat gain occurs in summer months. At least six inches of insulation should be installed in the attic floor.

Home insulation saves energy

With fuel costs soaring, every homeowner should know how insulation performs, where it should be installed and how much should be used.

Home insulation can be made from many types of materials but fiber glass is the most commonly used today. The glass fibers are

"woven" into a thick mat which acts as a barrier to the flow of heat.

Placed in the ceilings, walls and floors of your home, fiber glass insulation helps keep heat inside the house in winter. It also helps keep the heat out in the summer.

According to a leading insulation manufacturer, Johns-Manville, the most important place for insulation — and the place to start if you're doing the job in stages — is in the attic. This is because the greatest heat loss in winter, and the greatest heat gain in summer, occurs through the roof.

The place for attic insulation is in the attic floor, sometimes referred to as the top floor ceiling. Installing or adding insulation here is usually simple enough for the do-it-yourself homeowner. If you don't have at least six inches of insulation you need more.

Next, insulate the walls. In an existing house, you probably will have to call in an applicator with special equipment to blow the insulation into the wall cavities. You can install the insulation yourself if the inside walls are open or unfinished. Simply staple flanges of the paper or foil vapor barrier to the exposed studs.

Finally, floors over unheated crawl spaces should be insulated. Here, as in the attic and walls, the insulation's vapor barrier, usually an aluminum foil or paper backing, should face the heated spaces.

How much insulation is needed to effectively reduce fuel bills? Generally, a 6-inch insulation blanket resists heat flow better than a 3-inch blanket. Measurement of insulation performance in inches, however, is not considered accurate today, so an "R" value is used to indicate resistance to heat flow. The higher the "R" value, the higher the insulation's resistance to heat flow.

A little advance work helps to sell houses

With the arrival of 1975, many people in Western Wayne County are looking forward to moving into new homes sometime during the year. According to national statistics, about 20 per cent of our population, or one family in every five, can be expected to change living quarters during an average year.

Most of the moves, whether to a newly-built house or another existing home, will involve the sale of the presently-occupied home. Naturally, everyone hopes for a rapid sale at a top price. Those contemplating a move in the near future would be wise to start now to get their house in sale condition.

Following are some tips garnered from the collective experience of the 3,400 members of the United Northwestern Realty Association:

— Clean steps and porches, freshly-painted if needed, shining windows and fresh-looking doors should welcome prospects. As spring approaches, pay special attention to the condition of the lawn and neatly trim shrubs and hedges.

— Prospects are concerned with the extent and costs of redecorating, so a little fresh paint and fresh wallpaper can ease their fears while brightening walls and setting off rooms to their best advantage.

— Minor repairs take minutes but can pay big dividends. Leaky faucets, stuck doors, loose knobs, cracked windows and other small items may suggest that the house has not been given proper care.

— Every home buyer is interested in ample closet and storage space so discard unneeded articles and arrange these areas neatly to show them at their best.

— An attractive bathroom can be a sales clincher so make sure yours is in perfect order with all plumbing working properly, bathtubs and showers well-caulked and all tile and brightwork securely in place.

— Bedrooms are prime selling features and size always is important. Prepare yours to show their full potential by removing excess furniture and arranging the remainder to accent available space. Attractive spreads and fresh curtains will serve as highlights.

— The exterior makes the first impression so assure that it will be a favorable one. Eavetroughs should be clean and in good repair. Trim should be freshly painted or washed. No loose brick, stone or stucco should be evident and wood, asphalt and aluminum siding should be properly affixed.

— Pay special attention to the roof as no prospective buyer likes a house that may need major and expensive repairs. Examine the roof closely and repair any areas that have or may cause leaks including any areas that could be damaged by strong winds.

A huge sum of money is spent for disposal of garbage. But we spend more to buy garbage than we spend to get rid of it. It is a national disgrace that more is paid to swinish peddlers of odorless garbage than is paid for disposal of that which has odor.

Public permissiveness along with weird legal decisions have made it possible for revolting and insulting salesmen to swamp everyone with their sickening smut. Most movies and many TV shows shock the sensitivities of clean minded people. Authors and publishers seem determined to popularize previously unpermissible language. Anything goes.

Legions of and for decency are seen here and there but added effort must be made to stop this onslaught of smut and filth. Fraternal, civic, church organizations and the like might start a concentrated effort as a project that should find sizeable support.

Mailbox adds to landscape

A mailbox is a very functional feature of your home. It can also add to the aesthetic qualities of the landscape or be a jarring distraction. It all depends on whether you make it an integrated part of your landscape scheme or merely plunk it down.

"The thoughtful homeowner combines practicality with beauty when he puts up a mailbox. He provides a container that is convenient for the mail carrier and that also reflects the style of the home and home grounds," says Joe Cox, Extension landscape architect at Michigan State University.

Mailboxes can be rustic or modern, made of new materials or recycled ones, Cox continued. They can be fancy or simple, dressed up with shrubs or hardy flowers or merely set on a sturdy post.

Because they are the identifying symbol for your home or farm, they should reflect the mood of the total landscape and the personalities of the people who live there.

To make the mailbox an integral part of the landscape, carry over the colors used in your house trim, Cox said. Or use building supplies leftover from your home.

Think twice, however, about using stone or brick to build a base close to the road that will be an obstacle to snow removal or a hazard to traffic. To avoid these dangers, construct your sturdy base back from the edge of the road and extend the mailbox on a long arm. The box will be accessible to the mail carrier, but the base will not be in the way of snowplows or moving traffic.

WE'RE GOING TO MAKE LIFE A BOWL OF CHERRIES.

Nine out of ten people are under-insured or not insured at all, because nine out of ten people simply don't understand life insurance.

That's very unfortunate. Because if they really understood some of the plans life insurance offers today, they'd know life insurance may be a better value than a savings plan, a stock investment, or a mutual fund.

In fact, we believe so strongly in the value of life insurance that we've just announced a wide selection of new life insurance plans only for Triple-A members and their families. We're offering this selection of plans not to confuse you, but to make sure that we have a life style to match your life style.

Obviously, you're not going to buy life insurance based on what this ad says. But we think you will want to buy it based on what the guy who's helped with your car insurance and homeowner's insurance says. So call your Triple-A representative. He'll serve as your guide to life insurance. Because he knows you, and he knows life insurance. And he'll explain to you in easy, to understand layman's terms how you can build real cash values over the years and provide your family with life insurance protection at the same time.

Remember, he hasn't tried to oversell or undersell you before. And he's not going to try overselling or underselling you on life insurance now. If you ever have any questions on life insurance, he's never-going to be farther away than your phone. He feels it's his responsibility to guide you through your life with our life, and make both just as uncomplicated as he can. In other words, he's going to make life a bowl of cherries for you.

We want to do more for your life with our life.

FLYING EAGLE—Romulus guard Michael Morrison (12) has been setting the scoring pace for the Eagles all season. Here he slips past a Rouge defender for two of his 22 points Friday night.

Belleville awaits Allen Park

Dearborn slips by Tigers

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Physical.
That's the word Belleville High basketball coach Tom Niemi picked out to describe Allen Park, the Tigers' next Suburban 8 Conference rival. "Allen Park is a very physical team," said Niemi whose team started the New Year by jolting Livonia Bentley 61-54 last Tuesday, then dropped a 75-68 decision to the league's undefeated leader, Dearborn on Friday. "You have to respect Allen Park cage teams," continued Niemi. "And, according to our records they have always caused us problems in the past."

BELLEVILLE, slapped with several quick fouls against Dearborn, saw a 20-7 first period lead dissipate as two starters—the Easley brothers, Walt and Dennis—were yanked when they sustained three early personals apiece.

Walt sat out all of the second period while Dennis was benched for the second and most of the third.

Meanwhile, Dearborn outscored their visitors 21-11 in the second period and took command of a 36-31 halftime score. The two teams exchanged baskets on equal terms (16-16) in the third period, and the game remained close the final eight minutes. Though Belleville came within three points, 66-63, of catching the Tigers, the Tigers never got the tying points.

ALL HIS—Romulus' Donald Robinson (40) makes it look easy here as he hauls down a rebound against visiting River Rouge Friday night. But Romulus had its problems on the boards and eventually lost a 77-55 nonleagueur against the team that some say is the best Class B club in the state this season.

Rouge riddles Romulus

Romulus cagers have a rare Friday night off and second year Coach Jesse Meriweather will need the time to tighten the screws to a machine that have won only two out of nine starts this season.

The Eagles were victimized by River Rouge 77-55 last Friday and Romulus started the New Year last Tuesday on the shortend of a 65-52 decision against a highly-touted Detroit Southeastern quintet.

"I FEEL our boys played a heck of a ball game against Rouge," said Meriweather. "They are ranked No. 1 in the Class B state ratings. The difference in the game was the boards."

"They really can get up there and sweep them. Our boys just couldn't stay with them," Meriweather pointed out.

Michael Morrison continued to carry the Eagles' offense as he drilled in a game high 22 points. Billy Anderson supported him with 14. However, Mel Woodyard and Lionel Reeves combined for 37 of the Panthers' 77 points.

WOODYARD sank 18 from the field, 15 of those in the first half, while Reeves picked up 19 points and counted 16 rebounds.

In their first game of the New Year, Romulus gave visiting Southeastern a scare before yielding 65-52. The Eagles edged their way to a 10-8 first period lead, but fell behind at intermission 24-21.

The Romulus quintet stayed with the taller Southeastern team the third period as Allen Lewis came out shooting and scored 17 of his points in the second half.

Down by only two points, 40-38, going into the fourth period, Romulus couldn't stop 6-5 Cleo Hayes in the last eight minutes as he fired up the visitors with eight points that lifted them to a 25-14 period.

Lewis had the Eagles' high for the night, scoring 17. Morrison was forced to settle for 10 while Donald Robinson added 14.

Belleville swimmers dunk Redford Union

"We're just starting to come on now," says Belleville High swim Coach Sam Vicchy after his Tigers dunked Redford Union 56-27 on Thursday.

It was Belleville's seventh victory in eight starts and the opening Suburban 8 Conference meet for both teams.

"We have a bunch of outstanding swimmers - no super stars - but good swimmers whom I am very anxious to turn loose at the Western Wayne."

THE WESTERN Wayne Invitational is set for Feb. 15 and will be hosted by Westland John Glenn.

Against RU, Belleville swept nine of 11 events, two of those were contributions by Steve Barber who was clocked in 1:56.5 in winning the 200-yard freestyle, then came back to turn a 53.6 to claim the 100-yard freestyle. Belleville will return to the pool tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Allen Park. It'll be the Tigers' second conference test of the campaign.

Meet results: Belleville 56, Redford Union 27.

Porter is Huron wrestling champ

Belleville's Dan Porter recovered from his first dual meet loss of the season to beat Owosso's Dan Baxter to capture the Ann Arbor Huron "River Rat" Wrestling Invitational title on Saturday.

Porter, competing in the 132-pound class, decisively Baxter 6-0 in the finals.

Belleville, teamwise, wound up in fifth place with a total of 41 points. A strong Bedford contingent amassed 103½ points to win the team trophy. Owosso was second (72), followed by Detroit Catholic Central (56½), Walled Lake Western (53½), Belleville (41), Ann Arbor Pioneer (40), Romulus (39) and the host, Huron (38).

BELLEVILLE also had a runnerup in Greg Johnson, a 98-pounder who lost his first match of the season to Walled Lake Western's Dan Boumay who pinned the Tiger grappler in 44 seconds. Continued on Page B-11

Easley, despite sitting out the entire second period, connected on 12 field goals and four free throws for a game high 28 points. Mel Abraham, who sank 14 points, was the only other Belleville cager in double figures.

DEARBORN was paced by Jim VanderHull, the coach's son. He picked up 22 points. Teammate Dale Winner added 20 while Bill Rucker and Rich Haller accounted for 17 and 12 points, respectively.

Belleville hit on 26 of its 67 shots for 42 percent while Dearborn was on target for 31 of its 57 shots for 54 percent.

"I was glad to see that our kids didn't quit," said Niemi. "It's a tribute to them that they didn't fold and continued to play ball."

Abraham staked Belleville to an eight point lead against Bentley in a pivotal second period and the Tigers went on to protect the margin the rest of the way.

Tied at 16-16 after the first period, Belleville broke loose thanks to Abraham's "hot hands." He got 11 of his 18 points in the second period.

BELLEVILLE outscored Bentley 16-15 in the third period, then Bentley came right back to take a 16-14 edge in the final frame.

Twenty-two turnovers marred Belleville's attack. Bentley made only 12 and managed to still lose it.

Abraham and Dennis Easley shared the game's individual scoring honors with 18 apiece while Walt Easley finished with 13. Bentley collected 17 from John Miller and 14 from Don Kagley, the only two Livonia players in double figures.

Belleville edged Bentley 41-40 in the duel of the boards with Abraham accounting for 10 rebounds. The Tigers also made 25 of 74 shots for 33 percent as to Bentley's 24 of 67 for 36 percent.

THE FIELD continues to chase Dearborn, which appears to be the heir apparent to the throne presently defended by Plymouth Salem. Belleville isn't out of the race, despite two losses.

Coach Niemi's contingent is seated in a two-way tie for third with Bentley. Plymouth's 4-1 record gives the Rocks second place.

Prep tankers begin improving

High school swimmers are getting down to business as indicated by the latest All-Area listing. In nearly all events times are improving.

Garden City swimmers, off to a late start because of a teachers' strike, also have made their presence felt as Mark Blanchard, an All-Area swimmer last year, nailed down the top time in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:07.0).

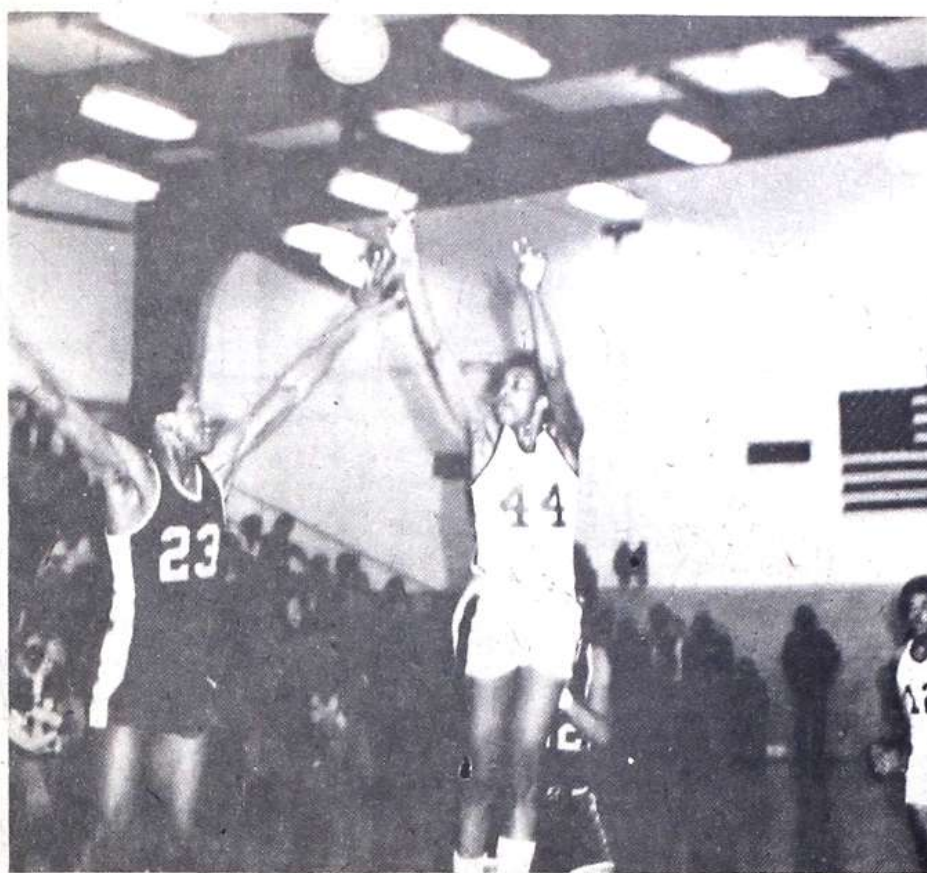

TEAMMATE Frank Fitus has the fourth best area time in the 50-yard freestyle. He's been clocked at 24.4 and trails Belleville's Mark Stoelton (23.7), who has the top time in the event.

The listing is compiled by Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski who can be reached at the high school pool (PA 2-5900) during school hours or at home (941-4399).

FIRING RANGE—Despite the outstretched arm of a River Rouge defender, Romulus Billy Anderson (44) gets off this shot. Anderson and the Eagles gave the top-ranked Class B team in the state a good battle for one period but the Panthers' superior board strength paved the way for a 77-55 Rouge victory.

South tankers breeze past Wyandotte, 96-61

Stretching its win streak to four straight victories, the Belleville South swimming team breezed past Wyandotte Wilson Friday, 96-61. Swimming in their first post Christmas dual meet, the South tankers took seven out of 10 first place finishes. Rusty Bearance continued his record-breaking ways as he set a 7th/8th grade mark in the 100 yard backstroke at 1:08.3.

PERSONAL bests were also posted in the 50 yard freestyle by Terry Caves at 27.7 and Mike Sherwood at 34.4.

The trio of Howard Renton, Tom Rizzo and Chris Liedel went 1-2-3 in the 100 yard freestyle. "Wyandotte Wilson was not an over-all strong team," said Coach John Stosick, "except in the breaststroke and diving. I was somewhat surprised to find out the kind of depth we had, especially in the freestyle events, this being our first six lane dual meet."

"We're looking forward to our January 31 meet at Allen Park South. From all indications and the information I've received from other coaches, this will be our first real test all season."

South's next home meet will be at 4 o'clock today at the Belleville High School pool against Marshall Junior High.

The loss snapped Johnson's 16-match winning streak.

Steve Wilson, who defeated Catholic Central's Pat Garner, 2-1, and Rick Bracken, an 8-2 winner of Walled Lake Western's Harold Machesky, provided Belleville with third places.

Jeff Bracken, a 119-pounder, lost to Chuck Joseph of Bedford in 2:34 to finish fourth for the Tigers.

Belleville Coach Gerald

Malecek was pleased with his team's over-all performance.

"I FEEL we did a good job against tough competition,"

Malecek said. "Huron has a decent team and they finished last in their own meet, that's how tough it was."

Meanwhile, Belleville made it 2-0 in the Suburban 8 Conference and 5-0 over-all, at the expense of Dearborn. The Tigers pinned the Panthers with a 38-15 loss. "It was sort of a learning experience for us against them," said the Belleville coach. "Dearborn is rebuilding and therefore we had an opportunity to try things under usual circumstances we wouldn't."

Sports merchants sponsor ski race

Belleville area skiers soon will have an opportunity to test their skiing ability.

Bob Parent and John Smith of Sun and Snow Sports, located at 402 Main St. in Belleville, again will sponsor the only cross-country ski race in the area.

This year's race will start at 1:30 p.m. on Feb. 9 in Willow Park by Willow Road along the Huron River. This site was used for last year's event.

The cross-country race is a 5-mile event for men, and a shorter one also is scheduled. For further information call Parent or Smith at their store, 697-4459.

Also, a cross-country ski clinic will be sponsored by the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department if enough interested persons apply. Recreation Director Jeffery G. Clark added.

The clinic will be held in Van Buren Park, located on the north shore of Belleville Lake. The 3-hour ski class will cost $5.

For additional information call Clark at 699-2001.

"We have so many now (trophies) that we don't know where to stack them," quipped Wayne's veteran coach Don Haney. "I got to be happy with the way these kids are performing."

"This was a difficult tournament," continued Haney, discussing the Schoolcraft Tourney. "There were 34 teams in it and it was much closer this year than it has been in the past."

"I'M AFRAID IT MIGHT just come tumbling down on us one of these days," Haney added.

This year alone Wayne wrestlers have captured four invitational championships and also are undefeated in seven dual meets.

They'll place their streak and reputation on the line Thursday when Wayne clashes head on with Detroit Catholic Central in a dual meet at Wayne.

Someone once wrote: "I may not agree with what you have to say, but I will defend with my life the right for you to say it."

That philosophical announcement is reproduced here because of a discussion yesterday with one of our readers. He was angered over an article he read on these pages.

It is a fact that I don't agree with what some of my readers write in and tell me, but I feel they have a right to express themselves.

They forfeit that right only when they become libelous.

NOT TO ALLOW a person the right to respond to what I have said, or written, or what someone else had written about him, I feel, is an injustice to all concerned.

And if we avoid issues because they are controversial we would be delinquent in our job.

I have been pounding this beat too long to start turning my face the other way.

Now let's get back to the local sports scene.

BELLEVILLE HIGH and wrestling Coach Gerlad Malecek appear destined for the record books. The Tiger coach says he has three brothers wrestling on this year's team and figures no other high school - or college in the state can claim that distinction.

The three brothers - Kevin (sophomore), Jeff (junior) and Rick (senior) Bracken - each earned medals at the recently staged third annual Wayne Memorial Invitational.

"I'll bet there isn't another team in the state that can boast it has three brothers in its lineup," challenged Malecek. "I'm sure it's a first for the area."

Is there any one out there who can prove the Belleville mentor wrong?

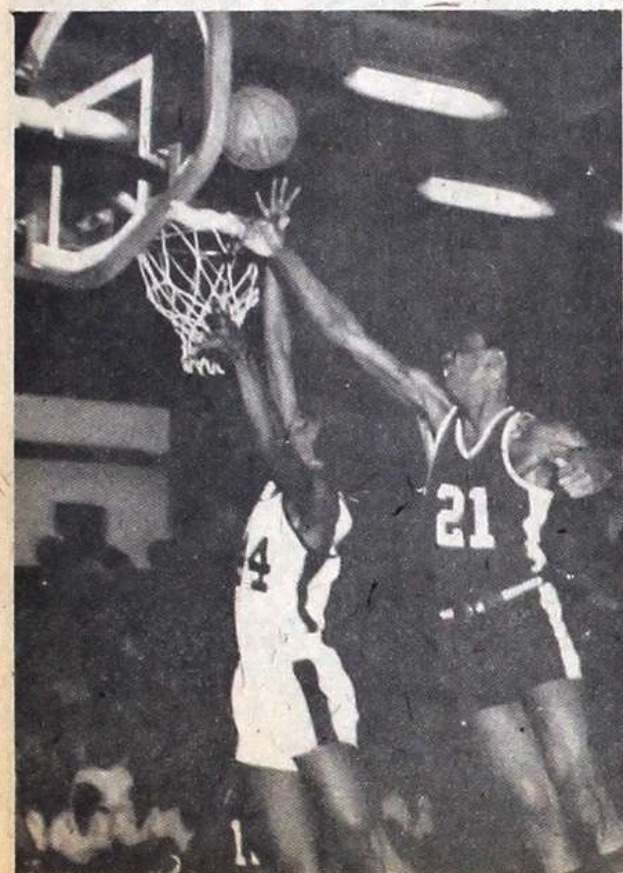

LET ME LEAVE YOU with this one: Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian, who's taking the year off to rest up, told a group of my cohorts that:

"You can be the greatest football coach in the world and have a great strategic mind but you have to have something to work with."

"We were most fortunate in that in the areas we needed the most help we had good freshmen."

And that applies not only to football, but to all sports, coach.

Without the bricks, the bricklayer is just another person.

AIR BATTLE—Hovering over the rim is Romulus' Don Robinson (white jersey), who has to fight off an attacking Rouge player. Robinson and the Eagles lost their second straight of the New Year to the visitors as their record dipped to 2-7 on the year. Coach Jesse Meriweather's contingent will take Friday off but will return to the court Tuesday to host Detroit Austin.

Auto show lineup: Kaline, Owens

Five of the greatest athletes in history—each a champion in his own right—will appear at the Detroit Auto Show as members of the popular Lincoln-Mercury Sports Panel.

Gordie Howe, Al Kaline, Byron Nelson, Jesse Owens and Tony Trabert will answer visitor questions and sign autographs during both weekends of the show which runs through Jan. 19.

Formerly a Detroit Red Wing great and now a Houston Aeros star, Gordie Howe represents the world of professional hockey. Holder of practically every major hockey record in the book, Howe generally is regarded as the game's greatest player and its foremost ambassador.

AL KALINE, Detroit baseball star, retired at the end of the 1974 season after becoming one of only 13 baseball players to get more than 3,000 career hits. In an age of specialists in professional athletics, Kaline stood out as the complete ball player.

Byron Nelson, the senior member of the panel, achieved such stardom during his brilliant professional career that an entire golfing era became identified with his name. He once won 11 consecutive tournaments, a record that has never been equalled.

Jesse Owens, one of the all-time great track stars, is a favorite speaker at banquets and civic meetings. A sensation at the 1936 Olympic Games where he won four gold medals, Owens has spent most of his life advising and inspiring underprivileged youngsters.

Tony Trabert, former Davis Cup star and one of the top-rated players on the professional tennis tour during 1955-63, represents one of America's fastest growing spectator and participant sports. He now is a television sportscaster.

Lincoln-Mercury Sports Panel members assist in merchandising programs and advertisements and serve as consultants in their various specialties. They also appear on behalf of the division at numerous community and professional functions.

GC East floors Romulus

The late-starting Garden City East wrestling team made their first appearance of the season yesterday and pinned Romulus 34-15.

Coach Kyle Tobin's Panthers will begin the Northwest Suburban Conference campaign tonight at Livonia Franklin, a team that is much improved over recent years.

East got off to a late start because of a teachers' strike.

"We look pretty solid in the light weights," said Tobin after the inaugural win, "however, we lack experience in the heavier weights, especially at 187 and heavyweight where we are using sophomores."
